When the Thermometer Registers 'Rock'

On the 25th of October last year the thermometer dropped to 34 degrees, in other words, it registered Rock Underwear—Winter Weight. Those who were prepared felt quite at ease—the others shivered and sneezed and got colds. October is a treacherous month. Last year temperatures varied from 71 degrees to 34 degrees, and a fall of as much as 10 degrees in 24 hours occurred on several occasions. It is time to get Rock Winter Weight ready for this year's cold snap.

"Rock" WINTER WEIGHT

Those who are wrapped in soft, fleecy, warm Rock Underwear can laugh at the vagaries of our variable climate. Rock Winter Weight Underwear keeps the body at a healthy, even temperature, allowing easy movement to the muscles and that ventilation to the pores of the skin which is so important a factor in the maintenance of physical well-being. Be on the safe side this winter—that is the inside of some warm "Rock" garments.

ARE YOU TAKING an every-day care of yourself? Irregularity of the stomach seems such a trivial thing to-day, but next week it is a malady; little ailments soon become big complaints. Neglect them and they lead to dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, constipation, or biliousness.

These will yield to BEECHAM'S PILLS

But why run the risk of so much suffering? What folly to delay—waiting till one is ill. Take an every-day care of yourself; remember always if you keep the bowels regular and the liver in working order you will never be troubled with indigestion and its attendant miseries.

"Taking care," of course, means that the standard remedy must be always at hand. In many thousands of homes Beecham's Pills are kept in an appointed place always ready for use. When you notice a symptom you want to get rid of it at once. To be always prepared, you, too, must keep a box of these famous pills

The Cork Employers' Federation, Ltd.

17 South Mall, Cork, Sept. 27th, 1923.

The President, Irish Free State, Dublin.

SIR,—We have read with the greatest interest the Press reports of your speech in the Dail on Tuesday, the 25th inst. As the views expressed by you do not coincide with the opinions generally held by our body—and, we believe, by employers generally—we venture respectfully to write you, and point out wherein we differ from the conclusions voiced by you on behalf of the Government.

1. In the first place you state that both parties—i.e., the workers and employers—are to blame for the present industrial crisis. As this statement comes immediately after a reference to Cork (where, it is stated, that after investigation the Government had discovered that business was at a stand-still), it may be thought that you referred to the Cork disputes when impartially distributing the blame. Whether that declaration applies to Cork, or whether it is of general application, may be a matter of doubt, but what is a certainty is that the Cork employers have taken the serious steps adopted by them in the endeavour to save their businesses and the trade of the City from total destruction. In almost every one of the businesses represented in the present dispute we pay 15 per cent. to 25 per cent. higher rates than are paid in Dublin, and from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. higher than London. In Manchester you may engage a fitter for £2 16s. 0d. a week, in Dublin for £3 14s. 0d., and in Cork for £4 14s. 0d. A painter in London gets 66s., and in Cork 94s.; we pay a builders' labourer 78s. 4d., but the same man is only worth 58s. 8d. in Dublin, and in London 55s. Do you blame us for seeking some redress from this state of affairs? We would mention that in February last we asked the Unions to meet us in friendly conference to discuss the economic situation, and with a view to affecting adjustments of these exorbitant wages without resorting to a strike, but with singular unanimity they refused to meet us. Can you blame us if, having failed to get an opportunity to discuss matters on friendly terms, we gave notice of reductions to come into force on August 20th? Again, in view of the fact that the elections were to take place on August 27th (the date having been announced after our notices had been served), we offered, at the suggestion of the Government, to postpone the "cut," but the Unions would not continue at work for a further fortnight at the old rates. On whose shoulders would you lay the blame for this?

There is, further, a rule set up by some of the Unions here, and it is that whatever be the state of the employer's trade he must keep on the whole of his staff. To use their own words—"While you remain open and trade, the whole staff should be employed." In many cases the turn-over in business, due to less volume and lower prices, has been reduced by 50 per cent. during the past three years, and, therefore, with the same staff, the ratio of wages to turn-over has been doubled. Are we to blame for declaring that this rule will not obtain any longer in our establishments?

2. The next point we should like to refer to is the statement that it is unreasonable to expect a reduction in wages without a reduction in the cost of living, and that the other side (i.e., the employers) should agree to a reduction in profits. It is admitted in other parts of your speech that the Government believed it was not possible to maintain the present high wages and high prices, and whether this was your view or not, it is absolutely certain that these two factors go together. It is true that if you lower wages and get the same production, you would not get lower prices if the employer pocketed the difference between the lower and higher wages, but it is equally true that with a continuance of higher wages you will never get lower prices.

Let us consider the question of the cost of living. There may be differences of opinion with regard to the actual reduction which has undoubtedly taken place during the past two or three years. According to the official figures the highest rate obtained was about 170 per cent. over pre-war averages; the Free State figure is now about 80 per cent. On this basis, it means that 20s. at the present time will buy as much as 30s. would have bought three years ago. The purchasing power of money has enormously increased, and we agree with Mr. Thomas Johnson in his admission that this is equivalent to an increase in wages.

The point that we want specially to urge is that, although reductions in the cost of living have taken place, there have been practically no reductions whatever in the wages of the employers involved in the Cork dispute. If, in the Government's view, it is unreasonable to expect wages reductions without a drop in the cost of living, may we take it that they agree with us that the cost of living having come down, lesser wages are now inevitable? The lesser cost of living is not due to any action of our workers; they have benefited by cheaper food and clothing, but their portion of the cost of distribution is no less; in fact, as explained above, it is higher than two or three years ago. The cost of living in Cork has been reduced by the sacrifices of others, the worker in Great Britain, cheaper world freights, and a reversal of the policy of inflation pursued by England and other countries up to 1920.

The plain fact is that to effect further reductions in the cost of living the workers in the Free State must now be prepared to do their share. They have so far stood by and let others effect the improvement of which they have had the benefit. Your suggestion that the employers should agree to a reduction in profits was made without knowledge of the circumstances in Cork, for most of us have no profits at all to reduce. Those of our body who have been able to make profits up to this year, are now making considerably less. These facts will come before the Revenue authorities in due course, and, but for the operation of the three years average, the income tax payable in 1923 by the distributing and building trades in the City of Cork would hardly pay the cost of collection.

We are not profiteers; we should like to see prices lower, but there can be no reduction in prices until wages are brought down. We would like to instance the grocery trade in Cork, a trade intimately connected with the cost of living; the average gross profit of our retail shops, which are now closed, is 15 per cent.; the average wage expense is 11 per cent., leaving 4 per cent. to pay rents, rates, and all other establishment charges. How is the grocer to reduce his prices? He can only wait until someone will sell cheaper to him; he can do nothing of his own volition. Is it any wonder that three large shops have given up business?

We observe that the rates of local authorities have come under your censure, and that a reduction is necessary. We entirely agree with you. Considering the fact that the Corporation wages have gone up by 250 per cent. since 1914 there is no wonder that our rates are 20s. 6d. in the £.

We share your regret that the Government Commission on Prices did not receive better support. We understand, however, that in Dublin the Commission was able fully to investigate the cost of the production of bread in that City, but so far we have not heard whether, in the Government's opinion, a charge of profiteering in bread can be sustained. In Cork the output is strictly limited by the working baker to 210 4lb. loaves per man per day. For this he is paid 96s. per week, as against 32s. for 240 4lb. loaves, 1914. It is estimated that it costs 2s. 8d. to bake a sack of flour in Belfast, and at least 7s. 6d. in Cork. Comment is needless.

Now, sir, we should like to add the following statements, which represent our considered opinions as business men:—

(a) Wages must be reduced immediately to an economic level to enable our businesses to carry on and retain their efficiency. We want to advance, not recede, and we cannot compete with other countries unless we can produce as cheaply.

(b) The Government cannot finance the country unless the trade of the Free State is able to make profits out of which to pay taxes.

(c) The expenses of Government itself must be reduced; everything the Government buys is loaded with high wages; every service it pays for has to bear the same burden.

Thus the movement to reduce high wages and high cost of production is in the highest interest of the Government of the Free State. Lower cost of production would benefit everyone. It is our opinion that a period of trade depression is before us. It will require the efforts and sacrifice of all to keep the Free State financially afloat. We say, with the utmost respect, this is no time for placing blame on men who are striving against tremendous odds to keep their businesses going. Rather should efforts be made to find a way out of the financial morass into which the Free State is inevitably falling. We are not unreasonable men. We demand the elementary rights of an employer, and a rate of wages our businesses can afford to pay. Given that, we shall do all we can to make the City of Cork prosperous, and provide all the employment we can.

Some machinery ought to be devised which would obviate the necessity of strikes and industrial upheavals, and, in that direction, and in any more which would have the effect of bridging the gulf which undoubtedly lies between Capital and Labour, you may rely upon our hearty co-operation. Unless we can have industrial peace and reasonable security, the capital which this country is in such need of will never be forthcoming, and any attempt to borrow money by the State would prove a disaster.

We trust you will excuse the frankness with which we have written, and we are taking the liberty of publishing this letter, as its contents are of public interest. You, sir, and your Government have acted courageously in all matters in which it was conceived to be your duty so to act. May we ask that the industrial crisis—which is, perhaps, the most important matter which has ever come before you—should be treated with equal courage in the light of the stern economic facts which we have endeavoured to put before you, and which—if not immediately alleviated—will involve you and us in common disaster.—We are, sir, your obedient servants,

For Cork Employers' Federation, Limited,

JOHN REARDEN, Secretary.

WOMAN AND HER HOME.

PARIS FROCKS: New Difficulties and Dangers.

WANDERING about the Dublin shops in search of frocks and hats, one is always tempted by things that come from France. "It is a French model, Madame," "It is a Paris frock," are sayings ever on the lips of the saleswoman. The Paris hat stands criticism—its "line" is good; it slips quickly and firmly right on to one's head; it is as light as a handful of feathers, and yet carefully and neatly put together. The dress is simple and subtle at once—so well finished that the "wrong" side is even more entrancing than the right, cunningly arranged with tiny ruffles, frills, or lace.

The poetry hidden in the making of these garments, the subtlety of small stitched hems, go to swell one's dream of the reality of Paris. One thinks of all the treasures one will find on the day one descends in person the steps of the Gare St. Lazare, or the Gare du Nord. But a terrible awakening awaits the dreamer when that day comes, particularly if she should translate her dreams into English, or Gaelic (Gaelic, by the way, is not yet understood—although, no doubt, it would be appreciated—in the shops round the Opera). She is inevitably confronted with the fact that there is Paris—and Paris.

The weeding-out begins. Let us say our friend begins by weeding out the "Samaritaine." She finds that although she may discover there all kinds of pleasing odds and ends she will not discover a frock or a hat that would be called pretty or exclusive in Dublin or Paris. She then goes the round of the big shops. She goes to the Louvre, Lafayette, Printemps, la Belle Jardinière. Here she sees dresses certainly. She sees them on the puppets in the great show windows, and she sees them in greater quantities upstairs; but they are not what she would call French frocks. They bear no resemblance to the other frocks, so simple and so subtle—so dainty even on the wrong side. They are not French; they are English of the English. Thus she has discovered the meaning of a word uttered with no reverence by French lips: Confection.

If she knows no French, she may wander on an eternal quest through Paris—a quest of Tantalus, for she will see before her on other women's shoulders "Paris" frocks. They will be of the richer and poorer variety, but they all will be simple, neat and graceful—all, as it were, in one piece, forming a whole: one line, one idea. These she will never find in the big shops—not if she searches there till the world's end. She will find stiff and heavy garments, all to whose neck and sleeves ideas are plastered, not woven, in. She will be almost driven to stop some woman in the street, a girl going to her office, or a rich lady going to drink English tea in the afternoon, and ask them—"Where did you get that frock?"

For she will see the frock she wants everywhere around her—everywhere but in the shops. If she is unadventurous, she may mount the steps of St. Lazare, bringing with her a garment which will look flashy and unusual, but not beautiful in Grafton street. It will be eyed with quiet scorn in the better Dublin shops, in those whose owners know that there is Paris—and Paris.

If she is adventurous, and attains to wisdom at last, she may shake some of the foreigner from her and one day discover the "Open Sesame" of chic. She may discover the word, "couture" and "haute couture." These will not translate. In the dictionary you will not find the actual meaning, for this is revealed only to those who take the trouble to find it out for themselves—and they keep it a secret.

MARGUERITE.

AUTUMN TABLE DECORATIONS.

TABLE decoration is rather a problem at this season of the year. There was no difficulty in having a pretty table when roses, carnations, sweet peas, and countless lesser flowers were with us in abundance. But now we have only chrysanthemums and autumn-tinted foliage, with, perhaps, some asters—all at simply outrageous prices. A few hints, therefore, as to how flowers may be made to last at least three times as long as they otherwise would may not come amiss.

To begin with, buy your flowers as fresh as it is possible to get them; avoid those sold in the streets, which have probably lain waterless on a barrow all day. Having got your flowers, cut off an eighth of an inch from the stems before putting them in water. This cutting is most essential, because when a bloom is gathered the stem immediately seals up, and unless it is opened again by cutting it is impossible for the flower to obtain the necessary nourishment. Then put a little piece of charcoal in the flower vase, and never forget to change the water every day; this is a thing which must be done. Do not forget, either, to strip all leaves from that portion of the stalk which will be in the water, so as not to poison it.

To turn to the actual decoration, however, a large salad bowl filled with gorgeously-tinted autumn foliage, and with trails of the common bramble meandering artistically here and there, is a very charming and uncommon centrepiece. Small specimen glasses filled with feathery field grasses and placed at each corner of the table complete the effect.

Then a wild flower table, composed of damp green woodland mosses laid in flat dishes, with wayside blossoms peeping up from tiny holes dibbled in the moss, and with trails of small-leaved ivy creeping across the table, costs next to nothing and looks charming.

Sulphur-yellow chrysanthemums intermixed with the crimson-splashed leaves of the Virginia creeper make a very harmonious autumn combination. So do golden brown asters and pale mauve Michaelmas daisies, with plenty of feathery green.

A most effective table decoration consisted of pure white and lemon-yellow asters massed together in a big black bowl, with a smaller bowl at each corner of the table similarly filled. The table glass was amber and white crystal, and the little menu cards were pale yellow, with black lettering.

A lovely old pewter vase filled with pink chrysanthemums and greenery looked very well in the centre of a snowy damask cloth. The table ware was all cut glass. Pewter candlesticks, with pale green candles and rose silk shades, completed the beautiful effect.

Autumn-tinted foliage mixed with glowing orange asters in copper bowls looks very well. So do pure white chrysanthemums, with lots of light greenery, in tall cut glass vases.

When flowers are not to be had, rosy apples, golden oranges, and big bunches of green and purple grapes piled in a squat black bowl make a most effective centrepiece.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

FIRST DAY AT NEWBURY.

CARAVEL WINS AT 20 TO 1.

JUNISO'S CUP CHANCE TO-DAY.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.
NEWBURY, Friday Night.

The Highclere Nursery, won here this afternoon by the 20 to 1 chance, Caravel, by half a length from Gurzil, was one of the most interesting two-year-old events decided in England this season. It confirmed for many people the impression that the two-year-old form this year is a long way below the average. How otherwise can one account for the fact that Hard Times, whom Mr. Gilpin bought out of a selling race, when he was known as the Desolation gelding, at Sandown in the spring, was right on the top of them at the finish and was beaten only a length from the winner?

The failure of the first and second favourites, Ducks and Drakes and Gossoon, was ignominious. The former is a very fine, powerful-looking colt, and he was greatly fancied. He did not strike off any too well, but he was well with them when they had gone a furlong. At half-way he was well beaten. Gossoon ran a trifle better, but he never quite looked like winning. Joe Canty came to the meeting to ride Haine, but the distance was hardly far enough to show this good colt at his best. Slippery Jane ran here instead of in the Foal Plate, and ran very well, too. She led for three furlongs, when Gurzil took it up, only to lose it at the distance, when Frank Bullock came away on Caravel to win rather comfortably by half a length.

The winner is a small but very beautifully made and very blood-like colt, as, indeed, he should be, for he is out of the very charming little mare, My Dear. He is too small, however, ever to make a really good one, and Gurzil was conceding him a stone. Gurzil is a leggy, rather narrow colt, and it is doubtful if he will ever be in the front rank. Caravel, it may be said, was neglected in the market.

THE AUTUMN FOAL PLATE.

The other two-year-old race, the Autumn Foal Plate, was won by Mademoiselle M., a filly with no previous form to her credit, who is trained at Epsom in the very small establishment of G. Duller, senior, a veteran who has been more closely associated with dealing and trotting than with racing under Jockey Club Rules. I imagine it was the biggest stake a horse from his stable had ever won, and the victory was quite a family one, for the filly was ridden by his young son, who is still an apprentice. Charles Morton, who trains the second, Black Duke, lodged an objection for crossing, but it was overruled. Mr. Persse fancied Tilphossa, and the filly, who was favourite, ran third. The form, I thought, was very moderate and very much below the standard one associates with a race of this kind at Newbury.

CAMPBELL KID'S SUCCESS.

Harry Beasley scored a success for Harper's stable when Campbell Kid beat Abanazar and Squarson in the Lambourn High-Weight Handicap. Holy Friar was a runner here, but Mr. S. B. Joel's colt will have to improve a great deal on this form if he is to win the Cambridgeshire, for which he has been well supported during the week. After the race it was suggested that in Campbell Kid Mr. Purefoy has another like Christmas Daisy for the Cambridgeshire, in which he is handicapped with 7st. 1lb. Useful as Campbell Kid is he is no Cambridgeshire horse, and if the great race is to go to the Overleigh stable Condover and Psychology are much more likely horses for the job. Mrs. Arthur Bendir, the owner of Campbell Kid, will have pleasant recollections of this race. She won it and a very big sum in bets into the bargain with Royal Hussar a few years ago. Royal Hussar, in other ownership, won a selling race this afternoon, but it was only by a head that Beary got him home from a two-year-old filly in Gwilt's stable, The Bride.

JUNISO'S CHANCE IN NEWBURY CUP.

Everyone seems to regard the Newbury Cup to-morrow as a foregone conclusion for Sir Abe Bailey's Apron, and it is very hard indeed to find one with a chance of beating the three-year-old who made so great an impression by the style in which he won at Doncaster. My own view is that the candidate with the best chance of beating him is Juniso, who was only beaten at Manchester by a very useful colt in London Cry, and who is, by the way, developing into a very warm Cesarewitch candidate. Previously Juniso had won the Ascot Stakes in good style. I make JUNISO my selection.

There seem to be a few good things on the card to-morrow. Neither Parth nor My Lord run for the Kingsclere Plate, and I regard the race as almost a certainty for ELLANGOWAN, who was not too judiciously ridden in the St. Leger, where he made strong running for a mile and a quarter. He certainly should beat Twelve Pointer. I hear good accounts of PLUTO, a dark two-year-old, trained by Lord George Dundas, who runs in the Donnington Castle Maiden Plate. OLIVE BELLE should win the Whatcombe Handicap.

LONDON BETTING—YESTERDAY.

With several Cambridgeshire candidates running at Newbury the wagering on futures was confined to the Cesarewitch. For that race the chief change concerned Baton Rouge, who advanced on his overnight price of 25 to 1 to 20 to 1, while 100 to 6 was the top closing offer. Ceylonese remained favourite at fives from London Cry at 100 to 8. Teresina and Bellman had friends at 100 to 6, and the French colt, Rose Prince, and Groomsport were others quotable. Details:—

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The second stage of the Newbury meeting has added interest in the fact that both in the Cup and the Kingsclere Plate some of the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire horses will probably be competing, and light may, therefore, be thrown on these popular back-end handicaps. The course is in quite good order, but certainly on the firm side. For the Cup the following is the list of

PROBABLE STARTERS AND JOCKEYS.
102 FLINT JACK (Mr. Plevins), 6, 9-5 ... H. Gray
003 SOUBRIQUET (Sir E. Hulton), 4, 9-3 ... C. Elliott
010 BHUIDHAONACH (Major H. Cayzer) 4, 8-12 ... (—)
102 JUNISO (Mr. W. Singer), 5, 8-7 ... F. Bullock
232 CEINTURON (Lord Derby), 5, 8-7 ... B. Carslake
*213 MIZZEN MAST (Lady Nelson), 5, 8-6 ... (—)
220 TOMATIN (Mr. W. Cazalet), 4, 7-13 ... Pryor
310 VILNA (Mr. J. Maxwell), 5, 7-13 ... G. Hulme
430 THARROS (Mr. J. White), 4, 7-12 ... H. Wragg
140 DONNA INNEZ (Lady Penrhyn), 4, 7-10 ... R. Jones
300 CELTIC MIST (Mr. Kenyon), 5, 7-6 ... (—)
301 APRON (7lb. ex.) (Sir A. Bailey), 3, 7-2 ... C. Smirke
00 CARTAGE (Sir G. Murray), 4, 7-1 ... A. Burns
40 AMMONAL (Mrs. F. Lloyd), 6, 6-12 ... (—)
000 OH DICK (Mrs. Stevens), 4, 6-0 ... A. Orme.
* Doubtful starter.

I like best Apron, Soubriquet, Juniso, and Vilna. The first-named is virtually a winner without a penalty, for on the occasion of his winning at Doncaster he carried 6lb. overweight, and then, in my opinion, won very easily. It must, however, not be lost sight of that Irish Belfry was conceding him 15lb., and I would not greatly fancy her in this race with 7st 9lb. He probably, however, won with a good deal in hand, and perhaps it would not be too much to say that he could have beaten her at level weights, in which case he is, indeed, a good thing for the race to-day. Soubriquet is a filly I would not hesitate to recommend were I sure she would get the course, and also that she were fit and well. It is, however, some time since she has been on a racecourse, and I prefer to see her again before taking her on my side. Juniso, on the other hand, is a rare stayer, and it was no disgrace to be beaten by London Cry at a difference of 17lb. Vilna I could fancy if at her best, for on her form last year she can be made out the equal of Ceylonese. The best bet, however, may be

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Crafty Miss (2 years) has been scratched from all engagements.

The yearling filly by Great Sport out of Gloxina has been purchased by Mr. H. Josephs.

Next year's Derby will be run on Wednesday, June 5th.

The Powerstown Park Meeting fixed for October 16th has been abandoned, and the dates of the Listowel Meeting changed from November 6th and 7th to November 13th and 14th.

According to the list of Irish fixtures for next year, published in yesterday's "Racing Calendar," 178 days' racing have already been sanctioned. There will probably be additions to the list, from which, it may be mentioned, the Curragh August Meeting is missing.

After the race for the Kiplin Handicap at Catterick yesterday Mr. A. Hartley lodged an objection to the winner, Lillywhite, on the ground of bumping. The Stewards after hearing the evidence of several jockeys and the judge overruled the objection, forfeited the deposit of £5, and fined Mr. Hartley £10 for making a frivolous objection.

The following were struck out of the Irish Cesarewitch on Wednesday:—Moor Haven, Peter Rush, Glenshesk, Shotmaker, Aquilon, Orofast, Killucan, Red Or, Mount Prospect, Bawn-na-Glas, Double Collar, Vesington Prince, Princess Georgie, Ennel Reg, Spanish Rose, Lady Blanchette and Bachelor's News.

The Stewards of the Turf Club and of the I.N.H.S. Committee having received a report from the Stewards of the Jockey Club that Mr. J. G. Dingley and Mr. William Henshall have been warned off all courses where their rules are in force, they have extended the sentence to all meetings under the Rules of Racing and I.N.H.S. Rules.

WATKINS, 77 and 78 DAME ST., DUBLIN. Bootmaker and Legging Specialist. Polo, Racing, and Hunting Boots to measure in one week.—(Advt.)

HIGH SCHOOL GALA.

The High School Swimming Club will hold its annual gala at the Iveagh Baths on Wednesday afternoon next at 4 o'clock. In addition to the usual school events there will be an Old Boys' Handicap Race (66yds.), and an Open Handicap Race for boys of Dublin schools (66yds.). Entries should be sent to the Hon. Sec., G. W. Whiteside, at the school. The semi-final of the competition for the Schools' Water Polo Cup will be played between the High School and Belvedere College (holders).

THE "IRISH FIELD."

To-day's issue of the Irish Field contains programmes and selections for Leopardstown, Kells, and Limerick, and all the English meetings; in addition to coursing news, football, kennel news, and golf and angling notes.

GOLF.

CYRIL TOLLEY AND CHAS. HEZLET FINALISTS.

D. E. SOULBY'S HEAVY DEFEAT.

Cyril Tolley and Major C. O. Hezlet are the finalists in the Welsh Open Amateur Championship. Yesterday they fought their way to the final under difficulties which have seldom prevailed in a championship match. The Southerndown course is laid out on the top of the Welsh hills, and during the decision of the fifth and semi-final rounds yesterday the course was obscured by a mountain mist. So dense was this that fore caddies had to be employed to peer through the gloom and mark the driven balls. The conditions were not improved by a drizzling rain which fell throughout the morning. Thus, there was very little visibility, and a sense of direction was a valuable asset to the players.

Tolley proved that he possessed this faculty to a marked degree. His golf was as good as it could have been if the best of conditions had prevailed. Driving into the gloom of mist, he was never off the line, while his opponent, D. E. B. Soulby, was wasting strokes because he could not adapt himself to the ordeal. Tolley played with the precision of a machine. He won the first three holes, and though Soulby got a brilliant three to win the fourth, Tolley won five holes in faultless figures, and, reaching the turn in 37 to 45, started for home with a lead of seven holes. Soulby was outplayed and outclassed; but, even so, it cannot be said of him that he played badly. It should rather be said that Tolley's golf was uncanny, for invariably he could stalk through the mist in a dead line to the hole, and in doing so walk up to his ball. Tolley's figures to the turn indicate his wonderful steadiness. They were—4 5 5 4 4 4 4 3 4=37. Three holes later Soulby was eliminated by 7 and 6, because he could not contend with the super-golf under vile conditions.

G. N. Humphries, C. H. Pillman, and Major Hezlet qualified with Tolley for the semi-final round. They played well, but their golf was not comparable with that of Soulby's conqueror.

Similar circumstances prevailed in the afternoon. Tolley was opposed to G. N. Humphries. He was again on the top of his form, and though he lost the eighth he turned with a three-holes lead. Four halves followed, and then Tolley finished very strongly, with fours for the fourteenth and fifteenth, and he won 5 and 3.

Hezlet started extremely well by taking the first three holes from Pillman, and he won the fifth to become four up. Here Pillman effected a great recovery. He had won a hole back by the time the turn was reached, and, fighting gamely, he was not vanquished until the seventeenth. The Irishman's win over S. H. Fry in the previous round was accomplished after one of the most interesting matches of the whole championship. The crux of the whole game came in the period after the fourteenth. They had been square at the turn, and at the fifteenth Hezlet was so unfortunate as to see his magnificent second find a hole in the green. His position was hopeless for the putt, and he lost the hole to become two down with three to play. However, he annexed the sixteenth and seventeenth in great style, and then proceeded to out-drive Fry by fully thirty yards. The latter was much too far out to the left, and Hezlet courageously played for the pin, and was rewarded by winning the home hole and the match.

Fifth Round—G. N. Humphries (Stourbridge) beat R. S. Pugh (Royal St. Davids)—6 and 4; C. H. Tolley (Royal Porthcawl) beat D. E. SOULBY (PORTMARNOCK)—7 and 6; C. H. Pillman (Sidcup) beat F. Le Stone (Sidcup)—4 and 3; MAJOR C. O. HEZLET (ROYAL PORTRUSH) beat S. H. Fry (Mid-Surrey) 1 up.

Semi-Finals—Tolley beat Humphries—5 and 3; HEZLET beat Pillman—2 and 1.

AMERICAN PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

HAGEN AND SARAZEN IN FINAL.

NEW YORK, Friday.

As a result of to-day's play in the semi-final round Hagen and Sarazen will fight their old battles over again—this time for the Professional Championship of America. Last year they had a 72 holes match, Hagen as the British champion, and Sarazen as the champion of the United States, for the World's Championship. Sarazen won this game by 3 and 2, and since both players have won their matches here with comparative ease a battle royal is assured.

It appears that McLean, a native American, was no match for Hagen in to-day's play, but R. A. Cruickshank, who was a student in Edinburgh prior to taking up the game professionally, put up a brave fight against Sarazen, although the latter won by a fairly comfortable margin. Details:—

SEMI-FINAL ROUND.

Walter Hagen (Detroit) beat G. S. McLean (Redford Country Club), 12 and 11.

Gene Sarazen (Titusville) beat R. A. Cruickshank (Shackhamxon), 7 and 5.

ANGLING.

A WORD TO ANGLERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Salmon and trout are now ascending the rivers to deposit their spawn. Anglers should form clubs in their districts to protect the fish. For the past six or seven years poaching has been conducted on an extensive scale, and our rivers have thus been injured for want of protection. The men who delight in using the rod during the open season should do a little to assist in the protection of fish and save them from extinction. Every angler should at least keep an eye on one or more of his favourite fords. The spawning season lasts only a few weeks, and poachers, on finding that they are being watched, will abandon their illegal practice. I further suggest that anglers should get in touch with the Civic Guard, who could do useful work to protect the fish.—Yours, etc.,

"BORDER ANGLER."

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

Most of the clubs having concluded their practice games last Saturday, to-day marks the opening of the match season. Probably the most interesting of the three Senior games listed will be that between St. Andrew's College Old Boys and Dublin University on the St. Andrew's College ground at Stillorgan road. The St. Andrew's side, which will be captained by W. Collopy, will include three other internationals, R. Collopy, J. D. Clinch, and N. Potterton, and Trinity will have their strongest available side. The playing of the match coincides with the opening of the new pavilion, and the club committee have made special arrangements to provide for the big crowd expected. Old Wesley, for whom D. J. Malan will play as scrum half this season, open with a match against Lansdowne at Lansdowne road. Bective Rangers with a good proportion of last season's side oppose Wanderers at Donnybrook.

FALKINER v. STEVENSON.

A good company witnessed some capital play in the above match at Liverpool yesterday. In the afternoon both did well, Falkiner compiling four three figure breaks, and Stevenson three. The chief items were 180, 112, 180, and 231 by Falkiner, and 130, 175, and 183 by Stevenson. Interval scores:—Falkiner, 13,780; Stevenson, 12,481.

On resuming in the evening Falkiner took his unfinished item to 157. The next items of note were 165, 96, and 122 by Stevenson. Closing scores:—Falkiner (in play), 14,403; Stevenson, 13,184.

SMITH v. NEWMAN.

Nothing sensational happened at the afternoon session in the Smith and Newman match. Both scored well on the aggregate, but the averages were low in comparison with previous sessions. Smith added 3 only to his overnight score, and Newman put on 291, bringing him within 7 of his opponent. Smith then went forward with 177, 164, and 77. Newman later had 99, 112, 151, and Smith 94. Interval scores:—Smith (to play), 13,866; Newman, 13,695.

At the outset of the evening session neither player could get the strength of table. Smith's aggregate of 73 for nine visits then finished up with breaks of 340 and 291. Newman's chief breaks were 93, 96, 237, 128 unfinished. Closing scores:—Smith (in play), 14,570; Newman, 14,300.

FEAR OF THE GUN.

DEFENDANT'S OUTBURST IN COURT.

DECISION IN CLARE MANSION CASE.

The hearing was concluded yesterday before the Dail Eireann (Winding Up) Commission at the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, of the case of Tuckey v. Enright. The Commissioners present were Messrs. J. Creed Meredith (Chairman), D. Crowley, and St. L. Devitt. The action, which was originally heard in the District Court before Judge Clery, was brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Tuckey, of 4 Kildare place, Dublin, who alleged that, by an agreement in writing, dated June 4, 1921, she sold to the defendant, John Enright, who agreed to purchase the mansion house and demesne lands of Clooney, Bunratty, Co. Clare, containing 260 acres, 2 roods, for a sum of £6,000. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had neglected and refused to carry out the agreement, and she claimed specific performance of the agreement, damages for breach of agreement, and other relief as the Court might see fit, and costs.

There were no pleadings in the case, but on behalf of the defendant it was contended that Mrs. Tuckey rescinded the agreement with him, and agreed to sell to three trustees for division among "landless men" who had taken possession of Clooney House.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Herbert Wilson, and Mr. Costello (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son and Robinson) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. E. J. McElligott, K.C.; Mr. M. Comyn, K.C., and Mr. James Comyn (instructed by Mr. J. MacNamara) appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Comyn, K.C., concluding his address to the Court, which he had commenced on Thursday, said that these proceedings had been brought to compel the defendant to pay his money and go into Clooney at the risk of his life. Counsel submitted that Mrs. Tuckey could not, on the evidence, have given possession of the property, and he asked could the defendant have taken possession without serious danger to his life.

Mr. Wilson, K.C., replying for the plaintiff, said that the case was one of simplicity, but much had been dragged into it that had nothing whatever to do with the case, and which he would not take up the time of the Court in replying to. The action had been brought by way of an equity civil bill. The only defence was that of abandonment, which was the same as rescission. There was no compulsion on Enright, and the only issue was whether or not there was any evidence on which the Court could find that there was abandonment of the rescission of this contract, of which, counsel submitted, there was none.

Commissioner Meredith, in giving the decision of the Court, reviewed the whole circumstances of the case, and said that he held that there had been no abandonment or rescission of the contract, and he could not believe that there was any danger whatever to Mr. Enright if he went into possession of the property. The Court reversed the order of the Court below, and gave a decree for specific performance of the agreement for the purchase of the land.

Mr. Commissioner Crowley concurred.

Mr. Enright, the defendant, said—I will be shot before I go home. Mrs. Tuckey knows that if I made any attempt to take possession of the place or if I attempted to sell it I would be shot. God Almighty! Is there no justice in the world? I would be shot dead before morning. I would not take possession of it—my life is dearer to me.

Commissioner Crowley said that he should be greatly surprised if what happened in this case was not the same as had happened in other parts of the country where landless men could not find the money to buy land.

The Defendant—I bought land for my son, and I have not now got the money to pay for the place. When I could not get that land I had to buy land for my son.

Mr. Commissioner Devitt agreed with the decision of the other Commissioners.

FALKIRK PIT DISASTER.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

It was semi-officially stated last night that no hope is entertained of any of the 43 men entombed in Redding Pit, Falkirk, being recovered alive. The high ground in the workings, known as Spion Kop, where it was thought that some of the trapped colliers might be found, was reached early last evening but there was no sign of any of the unfortunate men, a fact which practically establishes the fate of all those imprisoned in the mine.

DUNDALK AND NEWRY STEAM PACKET CO.

EFFECT OF LABOUR TROUBLE.

Speaking at a meeting of the Dundalk and Newry Steam Packet Company, in Newry yesterday, Sir Thomas MacArdle, who presided, said that he had a doleful tale to tell. They had had a most harrassing time in dealing with excess profits duties, income tax, and corporation tax, and their ships had been tied up since April 16th, owing to labour troubles. It would not come as a surprise to the shareholders, therefore, that on this occasion a dividend would not be declared. The company, like every other concern, had to contend with the difficulties imposed upon it by the boundary barrier.

Sir Thomas then explained the balance sheet, and said that the company had a legitimate claim against the German Government for £40,000, but at present the prospect of recovering any of it was not hopeful. Next he dealt with the question of wages. In Belfast the men received 64s. for a 46-hours week; in London, Liverpool, and Glasgow, 55s. for a 44-hours week; and in Dundalk they demanded 70s. 6d. for a 46-hours week. It was clear to the man in the street that the company could not continue trading under such conditons, and build a reserve to build the two new steamers that were needed to enable it to compete with its neighbours, to pay the shareholders a reasonable dividend, and to provide for contingencies. Despite all the difficulties that the company had to face, however, added the Chairman, he did not take a pessimistic view of the future.

The report and statement of accounts showed that the trading loss for the year to the 31st July, 1923, amounted to £2,009 14s. 4d., and that it had been found necessary to make provision for excess profits duty of £33,000, leaving a debit to profit and loss account of £8,115 0s. 7d. to be carried forward to next account.

INCORPORATED ACCOUNTANTS.

The next examination of candidates for admission into the Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors will be held in Dublin and Belfast on November 12, 13, 14 and 15, 1923. Women are eligible under the Society's regulations to qualify as incorporated accountants upon the same terms and conditions as are applicable to men. Full information may be obtained of Mr. A. H. Walkey, Hon. Secretary of the Irish Branch, Star Assurance Buildings, College Green, Dublin.

VICKERS (IRELAND) LIMITED.

GREAT RESOURCES.

LABOUR TROUBLE MUST END BEFORE WORK BEGINS.

A feeling of hope has been generated, not only in Dublin, but in the country, by the prospect of the rehabilitation of Dublin Dockyard. Members of Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., were not inclined to say much when they were seen by an Irish Times reporter yesterday. They would not say definitely that the purchase had been completed; all that they would say was that they had the option of purchasing, if the Port and Docks Board placed no impediment in the way.

The Port and Docks Board are the landlords of the site, and it is inconceivable that they would prevent the premises from being assigned from the liquidators of the old company to the new company, especially when the re-opening of the concern means so much to the industrial life of Dublin.

Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., has great resources behind it, and if it receives fair play from official and non-official labour they will derive immense benefits from its operations.

THE PARENT COMPANY.

Vickers, Ltd., which may be described as the parent of Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., is one of the greatest firms in the world. In 1829 a small steel-making business was founded by William Vickers at Sheffield. The concern grew rapidly, and in 1867 it was registered under the title of Vickers, Sons, and Co. The name of Maxim was introduced in 1897, when the Maxim Nordenfelt was bought; but in 1911 the title was shortened to Vickers, Ltd.

In 1855 the firm introduced from Germany the first method of making steel castings, and the first articles manufactured were steel bells. One of these bells that was cast in 1859, to be used as a fire alarm in San Francisco, weighed 62 cwts. In 1888 the firm began the manufacture of armour plates. The business developed rapidly, and there were correspondingly large increases of capital. The original limited company, formed in 1867, began with a capital of £155,000, and had unusual and drastic provisions in its articles by which half the dividends declared were retained in the business until reserves equal to the capital had been formed.

In three years the stipulated reserves had been accumulated. In 1871 they were capitalised, and the capital of the company was doubled. It went on increasing until the issued capital at present stands at £21,000,000.

THE BARROW WORKS.

The company's largest works are at Barrow-in-Furness, and cover more than 100 acres of ground. Here shipbuilding, ship-repairing, engine-making, boiler-making, and other branches of engineering are carried on. Some of the largest battle cruisers and ocean-going vessels have been built and launched at Barrow. The firm builds the Vickers-Vimy-Rolls commercial aeroplane; and the Chinese Government entered into a contract with it to spend £1,800,000 in order to develop an aviation service in their country.

Vickers, Ltd., have branches at Erith, Crayford, and Dartford (Kent), where they make shot-guns, waterproof ply-wood and ply-metal, motor boats, office furniture, box-making machinery, match-making machinery, small tools, variable speed gears, etc. They also control the Metropolitan Vickers (Manchester) Electric Company. They intend to open a dépôt in Dublin for the sale of their products—electrical apparatus, lamps, cables, etc. This Manchester firm recently carried out a contract for a power station at Belfast, where it placed the largest turbo-generator to be found either in Great Britain or Ireland.

The Vickers-Petters, Ltd., Ipswich, are makers of the semi-Diesel crude oil engines, one of which has quite recently been installed at Dundalk, the largest engine of the kind to be found in these islands.

These are a few of the undertakings which are controlled by Vickers, Ltd.

CONDITIONS OF WORK.

The Vickers (Ireland), Limited, Company, will be registered in the Irish Free State, and its activities will include the building and repairing of ships. "There is," said an official of the company, "abundance of work to be obtained once the business is started, but it will not start until the labour question has been settled. The company have unbounded confidence in the future of the Free State, and the Free State will derive a big revenue from the operations of Vickers (Ireland), Limited.

In the Irish Times of yesterday we gave the names of the directors of this company, four of whom are Englishmen and four Irishmen.

Mr. Douglas Vickers is chairman.

Mr. J. F. Barr, the vice-chairman, is chairman of the Dublin Steam Trawling, Ice, and Cold Storage Co., vice-chairman of Sir Robert McAlpine (Ireland), railway and public works contractors, and chairman of the Newry Bacon Packing Co. He is also well known as a successful breeder of cattle.

Mr. George Ridgway, M.I.Mech.E., the managing director, is a son of the late Mr. Richard Grubb Ridgway, of Riverview House, Waterford, five of whose sons served in the great war. He gained his first experience of engineering at the Great Southern and Western Railway Works, Inchicore. He joined the Pekin Syndicate Railways as chief engineer, and was afterwards works manager on the Argentine railways. He has been with Vickers, Ltd., since 1919.

The other Irish members of the company—Senator James Moran and Mr. J. MacVeigh—are well known in this country.

The registered offices of the company are at 32 Nassau street, Dublin, and the Secretary is Mr. R. H. Williams.

LEINSTER COLLEGE OF IRISH.

MOST SUCCESSFUL SESSION.

The annual report of the Leinster College of Irish—which was read at the eighteenth inaugural meeting of the institution at 39 Parnell square, Dublin, last night—stated that the past session was the most successful in the history of the College, the attendance reaching the record total of 974. A chain of centres had been formed, covering almost the whole of Leinster, and 211 students were successful at the annual examinations. Six diplomas, 15 bi-lingual certificates, and 56 certificates, and 134 temporary certificates had been awarded.

Mr. George Moonan, who presided at the meeting, said that the College was really a training corps in the fight for the Irish language. The people represented many generations of school children who would pass through their hands, and the movement was a constant, steady-flowing current which was to carry the institution on to success and save the nation.

DANCING CLASSES.

The Misses Mallins are re-opening all their classes during the coming week. They have brought many new exercises and dances back from London and the Continent, including Blues, Tango, 1923 Valse, and Fox Trot.

DIFFICULTIES OF GOVERNMENT.

SIR MONTAGUE BARLOW AND NORTHERN IRELAND

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDONDERRY, Friday.

Sir Montague Barlow, Imperial Minister of Labour, who was accompanied by Mr. J. M. Andrews, Northern Minister of Labour, visited Londonderry to-day, and they attended a conference at which were members of the Corporation, the Chamber of Commerce, the Harbour Commissioners, the Ulster Labour Unionist Association, the Derry Trades Council, and the local Employment Committee.

The Mayor, who presided, said that Ulster and Great Britain could not be too closely knit, and he hoped that Sir Montague would impress that upon his colleagues.

ULSTER'S PROBLEMS.

Sir Montague Barlow said that as a member of the Imperial Cabinet he congratulated them on the success with which they had started their Government in Ulster. The English people had an abiding interest in Ulster and sympathy with her in her many problems, social, political, and economic. He expressed satisfaction at the impartial, and consequently successful, way in which Ulster appeared to be handling those problems. He congratulated the Derry Employment Committee on the work that it had done and was doing.

Speaking of the problems of unemployment and industry, Sir Montague said that it was incumbent, and, indeed, inevitable, that the Ministers of Great Britain and Northern Ireland should march side by side, and so long as they did that he had the highest hope for the success of both countries. He would be a rash man who would anticipate that the paralysis of unemployment would be over speedily. Therefore, it behoved them to try and see whether they could in the most comprehensive fashion possible devise methods for dealing with it. They all knew that with great exporting communities like themselves the conditions governing employment were mostly beyond the control of any Government. The present unemployment and dislocation of trade were mainly the result of the war, accompanied by a dislocation of the exchanges and complete chaos in the conditions of international trade.

Unless, and until, the conditions of trade all over the world gradually improved, it was very difficult to see how they could in anything like permanent shape secure a cure for unemployment.

Civilisation must have some better method of adjusting industrial difficulties than a resort to the strike and lock-out. There should be some better method than this remedy of arms, which resulted in loss and tragedy very often to entirely innocent persons. That was the problem facing the whole industrial world. He said that he would interview Sir James Craig on Saturday and in the evening return to London. He would carry back a lively sense of all their difficulties and a lively sympathy with them.

THE DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION.

Mr. J. M. Andrews said that the Ulster Government had set up a Development Commission to inquire into the undeveloped industrial and mineral resources of Northern Ireland, with a view to developing them so as to create general prosperity and lessen unemployment. It was not for the Government to hastily embark on enterprises of this kind, nor even to subsidise any undertaking which must necessarily be somewhat speculative. It was for the Government to consider how they could encourage public-spirited men who were prepared to make great efforts and sometimes run great risks. This Commission would at no distant date present a very valuable report to the Government.

Senator Glendinning, in thanking Sir Montague, said that they were looking to a visit shortly to Ulster of the Prince of Wales.

Sir Montague was the guest of the Mayor at night.

BLOODSTOCK SALE.

MODERATE PRICES AT GRENNANSTOWN.

Messrs. Lowry and Sons, Auctioneers, held a bloodstock sale yesterday at Grennanstown, two miles from Athboy, when a number of valuable thoroughbreds, brood mares, and hunters, the property of Mr. R. G. Adamson, came under the hammer. The attendance of buyers was limited. Many first-class animals were withdrawn, owing to the reserve prices not having been reached. Some excellent specimens of the hunter class and many promising thoroughbred yearlings were secured at reasonable prices. There was keen competition for Lot 12, a three-year-old brown gelding by Achtoi, out of Black Mingo, which went to Mr. Albert Reynolds, at Garristown, for 150 guineas, the top price of the sale.

A brown filly, two years old, own brother to Lot 12, was purchased for 100 guineas by Mr. Walker, Rathvale. Major Murray, Ballygoran Park, Maynooth, paid 150 guineas for a bay yearling filly by Tredennis out of Whitethorn. Snow Lough, a seven-year-old bay mare, was knocked down for 150 guineas to Mr. Peter Donohoe, Athboy. Mr. Meleady, Dublin, purchased for 60 guineas White City, another mare of the same age. Mr. Albert Lowry, for 75 guineas, secured a nice six-year-old bay gelding by Lough Ryan, out of Perripin.

In the hunter class Mr. John Leonard, Drumree, purchased for 100 guineas a nice six-year-old bay gelding. For 60 guineas Captain Eccles secured an eight-year-old bay gelding. A number of really good animals were withdrawn, the prices offered being considered too low.

Mr. Christopher Hope, Mahestown, Delvin, for 37 guineas bought Arf-an-Arf, a four-year-old mare, the property of Mr. Neil Hannan.

NEW MOTOR LIFEBOAT.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

The New Brighton motor lifeboat, which has been so interesting an object for the past two days in Kingstown Harbour, made an exhibition trip yesterday evening with a party of about fifty guests.

The boat is a handsome one, and her going in the moderate waters of yesterday evening made the trip a real pleasure. In about forty minutes she made a journey from the wharf along the Dublin coast, through Dalkey Sound, round by the Muglins, and back again. All aboard interested themselves, especially in the jumping net, spread on four standards in the centre of the lifeboat. Its purpose is to break the fall of persons jumping from a height into the lifeboat when other means of descent from a vessel in distress cannot be used. Other features of the vessel are a 5,000 candle-power searchlight and gun apparatus for firing a one-inch life line.

Among the party on yesterday's trip were Lieutenant Vaux, R.N., of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution; Mr. Small, District Surveyor, who brought the vessel along the Scottish coast and across to Ireland; and Mr. Osborne, District Surveyor, in whose charge the lifeboat will visit several Irish ports before proceeding to Welsh seaports and thence home. Other gentlemen aboard representing the Dublin and Kingstown Branches of the Lifeboat Institution were Major Whewell, Messrs. Gerald Byrne, McGauran, Conyngham, B. J. Newcombe, — Stewart, and Mr. Hargrave hon. secretary of the Kingstown Branch. The Kingstown Urban Council was represented by Messrs. E. Kelly, Mallins, and O'Hanlon. Several ladies were also of the party.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

FIVE DESPERADOES IN ARMAGH.

A case of highway robbery is reported from Co. Armagh. On Thursday evening two employés of the Armagh City and Steam Laundry Co. were driving in a motor van towards the city, when they were stopped at Ballymacnab Cross-roads by five men, who carried revolvers and had their faces covered. The robbers ordered the laundry employés to get off the van, and took them to a laneway, where they were searched. A sum of £12 was taken from them. Before they made off the robbers damaged the motor car.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

At the weekly meeting of the Governors, held at Westland row, Dublin, Mr. James W. Drury presided. The following were also present:—Major Arthur Whewell, Mr. George Prescott, Mr. Frank Wynne, Sir John Irwin, Mrs. Clarke, M. E. Warburton Rooke, Mr. A. R. Foote, Mr. J. Russell Stritch, Mr. William Ireland, Miss S. Harrison, and C. E. Grahame Harvey, Secretary. The minutes of last meeting were read, confirmed, and signed. The minutes of Routine Committee were read and signed. The minutes of the "Board of Studies" meeting, submitting test pieces for "Coul. Exhibitions," were read and approved. A letter from the Secretary to the Ministry of Local Government enclosing auditor's report on the audit of the accounts of the Academy for 1922 was read, and considered satisfactory.

DOCKERS' STRIKE.

NO DATE FIXED FOR CONFERENCE.

THE CASE OF THE CARTERS.

No date has yet been fixed for the summoning of the proposed conference between representatives of shippers and of the dockers who are on strike in the Free State ports.

In Dublin yesterday work was confined to chartered boats or foreign vessels, coal boats, and Messrs. Guinness's boats, by men who are being paid at the old rate of wages. How long the chartered boats will be continued it is impossible to say, in view of the type of boat necessary to carry on under winter conditions. The dockers on strike are hoping that some way out of the deadlock may be found before long.

According to the Voice of Labour, the official organ of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, "its (the dock dispute) end is not far away."

CARTERS' WAGES.

The conference between representatives of the Master Carriers' Association and of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union re-assembled, under the auspices of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, yesterday, to discuss the demand of the employers for a reduction of 8s. a week in the wages of the men, in two cuts. The conference sat in private for some hours, and it was decided not to issue any report for publication at present.

THE DRUGGIST TRADE.

There was no development in the strike in the druggist trade in Dublin yesterday, and the prolonged dispute is leading to a shortage of drugs, which is causing some anxiety. Supplies of ether and iodine are said to be now small.

DERRY BAKERS' STRIKE ENDED.

A joint conference arranged by the Ministry of Labour, between the Londonderry Master Bakers and representatives of the vanmen, packers and bakers' labourers, who have been on strike since Saturday last, sat throughout yesterday, and late last night reached agreement.

An official announcement, which was subsequently issued, merely stated that terms had been agreed upon between the parties. Work will be resumed on Monday.

The strikers waived the demand for the recognition of their union. The demand for the withdrawal of the employers' understanding that a vanman leaving his employment could not be engaged by another firm for six months was also rejected. Some slight wage alterations were agreed upon. Vanmen receive an additional percentage, representing 4s. per week.

GOVERNMENT WATCHFUL.

POSSIBLE STATEMENT IN THE DAIL.

It is generally expected, says our Political Correspondent, that before the Dail adjourns on Friday next President Cosgrave will deal again shortly with the industrial situation. During the last four or five days he has been in constant touch with the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, and it is understood that certain proposals or suggestions have been drafted for early reference to employers and workers. No avenue that suggests a possibility of leading towards a solution of the trouble, I am assured, will be allowed to remain unexplored.

THE ROSSLARE ROUTE.

GREAT RUSH OF TRAFFIC.

Extraordinary scenes of bustle are to be seen daily at Rosslare Harbour since the cross-Channel passenger and live stock services were resumed. The s.s. St. David and s.s. St. Andrew have been placed on the passenger, mails, and parcels service, while the live stock and freight traffic is being catered for by the s.s. Southern and s.s. Waterford. Several hundred hands are employed, all of whom are members of the National Union of Railwaymen.

The steamer which recently arrived at Rosslare Harbour with a cargo of coal for Mr. James J. Stafford, Wexford, left with portion of the cargo, which was afterwards discharged at an English port. While the work of unloading the vessel at Rosslare Harbour was in progress the men engaged were ordered to leave.

The first advertisement asking for evidence was inserted in the newspapers on the 4th of July, and since that date more than thirty sittings have been entirely devoted to the purpose of hearing witnesses who came forward in response to the advertisements.

The Committee has almost completed a further interim report, and its further sittings will be devoted to the consideration of the evidence already given, and the preparation of its final report.

FEAR OF THE GUN.

DEFENDANT'S OUTBURST IN COURT.

DECISION IN CLARE MANSION CASE.

The hearing was concluded yesterday before the Dail Eireann (Winding Up) Commission at the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, of the case of Tuckey v. Enright. The Commissioners present were Messrs. J. Creed Meredith (Chairman), D. Crowley, and St. L. Devitt. The action, which was originally heard in the District Court before Judge Clery, was brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Tuckey, of 4 Kildare place, Dublin, who alleged that, by an agreement in writing, dated June 4, 1921, she sold to the defendant, John Enright, who agreed to purchase the mansion house and demesne lands of Clooney, Bunratty, Co. Clare, containing 260 acres, 2 roods, for a sum of £6,000. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had neglected and refused to carry out the agreement, and she claimed specific performance of the agreement, damages for breach of agreement, and other relief as the Court might see fit, and costs.

There were no pleadings in the case, but on behalf of the defendant it was contended that Mrs. Tuckey rescinded the agreement with him, and agreed to sell to three trustees for division among "landless men" who had taken possession of Clooney House.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Herbert Wilson, and Mr. Costello (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son and Robinson) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. E. J. McElligott, K.C.; Mr. M. Comyn, K.C., and Mr. James Comyn (instructed by Mr. J. MacNamara) appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Comyn, K.C., concluding his address to the Court, which he had commenced on Thursday, said that these proceedings had been brought to compel the defendant to pay his money and go into Clooney at the risk of his life. Counsel submitted that Mrs. Tuckey could not, on the evidence, have given possession of the property, and he asked could the defendant have taken possession without serious danger to his life.

Mr. Wilson, K.C., replying for the plaintiff, said that the case was one of simplicity, but much had been dragged into it that had nothing whatever to do with the case, and which he would not take up the time of the Court in replying to. The action had been brought by way of an equity civil bill. The only defence was that of abandonment, which was the same as rescission. There was no compulsion on Enright, and the only issue was whether or not there was any evidence on which the Court could find that there was abandonment of the rescission of this contract, of which, counsel submitted, there was none.

Commissioner Meredith, in giving the decision of the Court, reviewed the whole circumstances of the case, and said that he held that there had been no abandonment or rescission of the contract, and he could not believe that there was any danger whatever to Mr. Enright if he went into possession of the property. The Court reversed the order of the Court below, and gave a decree for specific performance of the agreement for the purchase of the land.

Mr. Commissioner Crowley concurred.

Mr. Enright, the defendant, said—I will be shot before I go home. Mrs. Tuckey knows that if I made any attempt to take possession of the place or if I attempted to sell it I would be shot. God Almighty! Is there no justice in the world? I would be shot dead before morning. I would not take possession of it—my life is dearer to me.

Commissioner Crowley said that he should be greatly surprised if what happened in this case was not the same as had happened in other parts of the country where landless men could not find the money to buy land.

The Defendant—I bought land for my son, and I have not now got the money to pay for the place. When I could not get that land I had to buy land for my son.

Mr. Commissioner Devitt agreed with the decision of the other Commissioners.

FALKIRK PIT DISASTER.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

It was semi-officially stated last night that no hope is entertained of any of the 43 men entombed in Redding Pit, Falkirk, being recovered alive. The high ground in the workings, known as Spion Kop, where it was thought that some of the trapped colliers might be found, was reached early last evening but there was no sign of any of the unfortunate men, a fact which practically establishes the fate of all those imprisoned in the mine.

DUNDALK AND NEWRY STEAM PACKET CO.

EFFECT OF LABOUR TROUBLE.

Speaking at a meeting of the Dundalk and Newry Steam Packet Company, in Newry yesterday, Sir Thomas MacArdle, who presided, said that he had a doleful tale to tell. They had had a most harrassing time in dealing with excess profits duties, income tax, and corporation tax, and their ships had been tied up since April 16th, owing to labour troubles. It would not come as a surprise to the shareholders, therefore, that on this occasion a dividend would not be declared. The company, like every other concern, had to contend with the difficulties imposed upon it by the boundary barrier.

Sir Thomas then explained the balance sheet, and said that the company had a legitimate claim against the German Government for £40,000, but at present the prospect of recovering any of it was not hopeful. Next he dealt with the question of wages. In Belfast the men received 64s. for a 46-hours week; in London, Liverpool, and Glasgow, 55s. for a 44-hours week; and in Dundalk they demanded 70s. 6d. for a 46-hours week. It was clear to the man in the street that the company could not continue trading under such conditons, and build a reserve to build the two new steamers that were needed to enable it to compete with its neighbours, to pay the shareholders a reasonable dividend, and to provide for contingencies. Despite all the difficulties that the company had to face, however, added the Chairman, he did not take a pessimistic view of the future.

The report and statement of accounts showed that the trading loss for the year to the 31st July, 1923, amounted to £2,009 14s. 4d., and that it had been found necessary to make provision for excess profits duty of £33,000, leaving a debit to profit and loss account of £8,115 0s. 7d. to be carried forward to next account.

INCORPORATED ACCOUNTANTS.

The next examination of candidates for admission into the Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors will be held in Dublin and Belfast on November 12, 13, 14 and 15, 1923. Women are eligible under the Society's regulations to qualify as incorporated accountants upon the same terms and conditions as are applicable to men. Full information may be obtained of Mr. A. H. Walkey, Hon. Secretary of the Irish Branch, Star Assurance Buildings, College Green, Dublin.

VICKERS (IRELAND) LIMITED.

GREAT RESOURCES.

LABOUR TROUBLE MUST END

BEFORE WORK BEGINS.

A feeling of hope has been generated, not only in Dublin, but in the country, by the prospect of the rehabilitation of Dublin Dockyard. Members of Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., were not inclined to say much when they were seen by an Irish Times reporter yesterday. They would not say definitely that the purchase had been completed; all that they would say was that they had the option of purchasing, if the Port and Docks Board placed no impediment in the way. The Port and Docks Board are the landlords of the site, and it is inconceivable that they would prevent the promises from being assigned from the liquidators of the old company to the new company, especially when the re-opening of the concern means so much to the industrial life of Dublin.

Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., has great resources behind it, and if it receives fair play from official and non-official labour they will derive immense benefits from its operations.

THE PARENT COMPANY.

Vickers, Ltd., which may be described as the parent of Vickers (Ireland), Ltd., is one of the greatest firms in the world. In 1829 a small steel-making business was founded by William Vickers at Sheffield. The concern grew rapidly, and in 1867 it was registered under the title of Vickers, Sons, and Co. The name of Maxim was introduced in 1897, when the Maxim Nordenfelt was bought; but in 1911 the title was shortened to Vickers, Ltd.

In 1855 the firm introduced from Germany the first method of making steel castings, and the first articles manufactured were steel bells. One of these bells that was cast in 1859 to be used as a fire alarm in San Francisco, weighed 82 cwts. In 1888 the firm began the manufacture of armour plates. The business developed rapidly, and there were correspondingly large increases of capital. The original limited company, formed in 1867, began with a capital of £155,000, and had unusual and drastic provisions in its articles by which half the dividends declared were retained in the business until reserves equal to the capital had been formed.

In three years the stipulated reserves had been accumulated. In 1871 they were capitalised, and the capital of the company was doubled. It went on increasing until the issued capital at present stands at £21,000,000.

THE BARROW WORKS.

The company's largest works are at Barrow-in-Furness, and cover more than 100 acres of ground. Here shipbuilding, ship-repairing, engine-making, boiler-making, and other branches of engineering are carried on. Some of the largest battle cruisers and ocean-going vessels have been built and launched at Barrow. The firm builds the Vickers-Vimy-Rolls commercial aeroplane; and the Chinese Government entered into a contract with it to spend £1,800,000 in order to develop an aviation service in their country.

Vickers, Ltd., have branches at Erith, Crayford, and Dartford (Kent), where they make shot-guns, waterproof ply-wood and ply-metal, motor boats, office furniture, box-making machinery, match-making machinery, small tools, variable speed gears, etc. They also control the Metropolitan Vickers (Manchester) Electric Company. They intend to open a dépôt in Dublin for the sale of their products—electrical apparatus, lamps, cables, etc. This Manchester firm recently carried out a contract for a power station at Belfast, where it placed the largest turbo-generator to be found either in Great Britain or Ireland.

The Vickers-Petters, Ltd., Ipswich, are makers of the semi-Diesel crude oil engines, one of which has quite recently been installed at Dundalk, the largest engine of the kind to be found in these islands.

These are a few of the undertakings which are controlled by Vickers, Ltd.

CONDITIONS OF WORK.

The Vickers (Ireland), Limited, Company, will be registered in the Irish Free State, and its activities will include the building and repairing of ships. "There is," said an official of the company, "abundance of work to be obtained once the business is started, but it will not start until the labour question has been settled. The company have unbounded confidence in the future of the Free State, and the Free State will derive a big revenue from the operations of Vickers (Ireland), Limited.

In the Irish Times of yesterday we gave the names of the directors of this company, four of whom are Englishmen and four Irishmen.

Mr. Douglas Vickers is chairman.

Mr. J. F. Barr, the vice-chairman, is chairman of the Dublin Steam Trawling, Ice, and Cold Storage Co., vice-chairman of Sir Robert McAlpine (Ireland), railway and public works contractors, and chairman of the Newry Bacon Packing Co. He is also well known as a successful breeder of cattle.

Mr. George Ridgway, M.I.Mech.E., the managing director, is a son of the late Mr. Richard Grubb Ridgway, of Riverview House, Waterford, five of whose sons served in the great war. He gained his first experience of engineering at the Great Southern and Western Railway Works, Inchicore. He joined the Pekin Syndicate Railways as chief engineer, and was afterwards works manager on the Argentine railways. He has been with Vickers, Ltd., since 1919.

The other Irish members of the company—Senator James Moran and Mr. J. MacVeigh—are well known in this country.

The registered offices of the company are at 32 Nassau street, Dublin, and the Secretary is Mr. R. H. Williams.

LEINSTER COLLEGE OF IRISH.

MOST SUCCESSFUL SESSION.

The annual report of the Leinster College of Irish—which was read at the eighteenth inaugural meeting of the institution at 39 Parnell square, Dublin, last night—stated that the past session was the most successful in the history of the College, the attendance reaching the record total of 974. A chain of centres had been formed, covering almost the whole of Leinster, and 211 students were successful at the annual examinations. Six diplomas, 15 bi-lingual certificates, and 56 certificates, and 134 temporary certificates had been awarded.

Mr. George Moonan, who presided at the meeting, said that the College was really a training corps in the fight for the Irish language. The people represented many generations of school children who would pass through their hands, and the movement was a constant, steady-flowing current which was to carry the institution on to success and save the nation.

DANCING CLASSES.

The Misses Mallins are re-opening all their classes during the coming week. They have brought many new exercises and dances back from London and the Continent, including Blues, Tango, 1923 Valse, and Fox Trot.

DIFFICULTIES OF GOVERNMENT.

SIR MONTAGUE BARLOW AND NORTHERN IRELAND

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDONDERRY, Friday.

Sir Montague Barlow, Imperial Minister of Labour, who was accompanied by Mr. J. M. Andrews, Northern Minister of Labour, visited Londonderry to-day, and they attended a conference at which were members of the Corporation, the Chamber of Commerce, the Harbour Commissioners, the Ulster Labour Unionist Association, the Derry Trades Council, and the local Employment Committee.

The Mayor, who presided, said that Ulster and Great Britain could not be too closely knit, and he hoped that Sir Montague would impress that upon his colleagues.

ULSTER'S PROBLEMS.

Sir Montague Barlow said that as a member of the Imperial Cabinet he congratulated them on the success with which they had started their Government in Ulster. The English people had an abiding interest in Ulster and sympathy with her in her many problems, social, political, and economic. He expressed satisfaction at the impartial, and consequently successful, way in which Ulster appeared to be handling those problems. He congratulated the Derry Employment Committee on the work that it had done and was doing.

Speaking of the problems of unemployment and industry, Sir Montague said that it was incumbent, and, indeed, inevitable, that the Ministers of Great Britain and Northern Ireland should march side by side, and so long as they did that he had the highest hope for the success of both countries. He would be a rash man who would anticipate that the paralysis of unemployment would be over speedily. Therefore, it behoved them to try and see whether they could in the most comprehensive fashion possible devise methods for dealing with it. They all knew that with great exporting communities like themselves the conditions governing employment were mostly beyond the control of any Government. The present unemployment and dislocation of trade were mainly the result of the war, accompanied by a dislocation of the exchanges and complete chaos in the conditions of international trade.

Unless, and until, the conditions of trade all over the world gradually improved, it was very difficult to see how they could in anything like permanent shape secure a cure for unemployment.

Civilisation must have some better method of adjusting industrial difficulties than a resort to the strike and lock-out. There should be some better method than this remedy of arms, which resulted in loss and tragedy very often to entirely innocent persons. That was the problem facing the whole industrial world. He said that he would interview Sir James Craig on Saturday and in the evening return to London. He would carry back a lively sense of all their difficulties and a lively sympathy with them.

THE DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION.

Mr. J. M. Andrews said that the Ulster Government had set up a Development Commission to inquire into the undeveloped industrial and mineral resources of Northern Ireland, with a view to developing them so as to create general prosperity and lessen unemployment. It was not for the Government to hastily embark on enterprises of this kind, nor even to subsidise any undertaking which must necessarily be somewhat speculative. It was for the Government to consider how they could encourage public-spirited men who were prepared to make great efforts and sometimes run great risks. This Commission would at no distant date present a very valuable report to the Government.

Senator Glendinning, in thanking Sir Montague, said that they were looking to a visit shortly to Ulster of the Prince of Wales.

Sir Montague was the guest of the Mayor at night.

BLOODSTOCK SALE.

MODERATE PRICES AT GRENNANSTOWN.

Messrs. Lowry and Sons, Auctioneers, held a bloodstock sale yesterday at Grennanstown, two miles from Athboy, when a number of valuable thoroughbreds, brood mares, and hunters, the property of Mr. R. G. Adamson, came under the hammer. The attendance of buyers was limited. Many first-class animals were withdrawn, owing to the reserve prices not having been reached. Some excellent specimens of the hunter class and many promising thoroughbred yearlings were secured at reasonable prices. There was keen competition for Lot 12, a three-year-old brown gelding by Achtoi, out of Black Mingo, which went to Mr. Albert Reynolds, at Garristown, for 150 guineas, the top price of the sale.

A brown filly, two years old, own brother to Lot 12, was purchased for 100 guineas by Mr. Walker, Rathvale. Major Murray, Ballygoran Park, Maynooth, paid 150 guineas for a bay yearling filly by Tredennis out of Whitethorn. Snow Lough, a seven-year-old bay mare, was knocked down for 150 guineas to Mr. Peter Donohoe, Athboy. Mr. Meleady, Dublin, purchased for 60 guineas White City, another mare of the same age. Mr. Albert Lowry, for 75 guineas, secured a nice six-year-old bay gelding by Lough Ryan, out of Perripin.

In the hunter class Mr. John Leonard, Drumree, purchased for 100 guineas a nice six-year-old bay gelding. For 60 guineas Captain Eccles secured an eight-year-old bay gelding. A number of really good animals were withdrawn, the prices offered being considered too low.

Mr. Christopher Hope, Mahestown, Delvin, for 37 guineas bought Arf-an-Arf, a four-year-old mare, the property of Mr. Neil Hannan.

NEW MOTOR LIFEBOAT.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

The New Brighton motor lifeboat, which has been so interesting an object for the past two days in Kingstown Harbour, made an exhibition trip yesterday evening with a party of about fifty guests.

The boat is a handsome one, and her going in the moderate waters of yesterday evening made the trip a real pleasure. In about forty minutes she made a journey from the wharf along the Dublin coast, through Dalkey Sound, round by the Muglins, and back again. All aboard interested themselves, especially in the jumping net, spread on four standards in the centre of the lifeboat. Its purpose is to break the fall of persons jumping from a height into the lifeboat when other means of descent from a vessel in distress cannot be used. Other features of the vessel are a 5,000 candle-power searchlight and gun apparatus for firing a one-inch life line.

Among the party on yesterday's trip were Lieutenant Vaux, R.N., of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution; Mr. Small, District Surveyor, who brought the vessel along the Scottish coast and across to Ireland; and Mr. Osborne, District Surveyor, in whose charge the lifeboat will visit several Irish ports before proceeding to Welsh seaports and thence home. Other gentlemen aboard representing the Dublin and Kingstown Branches of the Lifeboat Institution were Major Whewell, Messrs. Gerald Byrne, McGauran, Conyngham B. J. Newcombe, — Stewart, and Mr. Hargrave hon. secretary of the Kingstown Branch. The Kingstown Urban Council was represented by Messrs. E. Kelly, Mallins, and O'Hanlon. Several ladies were also of the party.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

FIVE DESPERADOES IN ARMAGH.

A case of highway robbery is reported from Co Armagh. On Thursday evening two employés of the Armagh City and Steam Laundry Co. were driving in a motor van towards the city, when they were stopped at Ballymacnab Cross-roads by five men, who carried revolvers and had their faces covered. The robbers ordered the laundry employés to get off the van, and took them to a laneway, where they were searched. A sum of £12 was taken from them. Before they made off the robbers damaged the motor car.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

At the weekly meeting of the Governors, held at Westland row, Dublin, Mr. James W. Drury presided. The following were also present:—Major Arthur Whewell, Mr. George Prescott, Mr. Frank Wynne, Sir John Irwin, Mrs. Clarke, M. B. Warburton Rooke, Mr. A. R. Foote, Mr. J. Russell Stritch, Mr. William Ireland, Miss S. Harrison, and C. E. Grahame Harvey, Secretary. The minutes of last meeting were read, confirmed, and signed. The minutes of Routine Committee were read and signed. The minutes of the "Board of Studies" meeting, submitting test pieces for "Coulson Exhibitions," were read and approved. A letter from the Secretary to the Ministry of Local Government enclosing auditor's report on the audit of the accounts of the Academy for 1922 was read, and considered satisfactory.

DOCKERS' STRIKE.

NO DATE FIXED FOR CONFERENCE.

THE CASE OF THE CARTERS.

No date has yet been fixed for the summoning of the proposed conference between representatives of shippers and of the dockers who are on strike in the Free State ports.

In Dublin yesterday work was confined to chartered boats or foreign vessels, coal boats, and Messrs. Guinness's boats, by men who are being paid at the old rate of wages. How long the chartered boats will be continued it is impossible to say, in view of the type of boat necessary to carry on under winter conditions. The dockers on strike are hoping that some way out of the deadlock may be found before long.

According to the Voice of Labour, the official organ of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, "its (the dock dispute) end is not far away."

CARTERS' WAGES.

The conference between representatives of the Master Carriers' Association and of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union re-assembled, under the auspices of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, yesterday, to discuss the demand of the employers for a reduction of 8s. a week in the wages of the men, in two cuts. The conference sat in private for some hours, and it was decided not to issue any report for publication at present.

THE DRUGGIST TRADE.

There was no development in the strike in the druggist trade in Dublin yesterday, and the prolonged dispute is leading to a shortage of drugs, which is causing some anxiety. Supplies of ether and iodine are said to be now small.

DERRY BAKERS' STRIKE ENDED.

A joint conference arranged by the Ministry of Labour, between the Londonderry Master Bakers and representatives of the vanmen, packers and bakers' labourers, who have been on strike since Saturday last, sat throughout yesterday, and late last night reached agreement.

An official announcement, which was subsequently issued, merely stated that terms had been agreed upon between the parties. Work will be resumed on Monday.

The strikers waived the demand for the recognition of their union. The demand for the withdrawal of the employers' understanding that a vanman leaving his employment could not be engaged by another firm for six months was also rejected. Some slight wage alterations were agreed upon. Vanmen receive an additional percentage, representing 4s. per week.

GOVERNMENT WATCHFUL.

POSSIBLE STATEMENT IN THE DAIL.

It is generally expected, says our Political Correspondent, that before the Dail adjourns on Friday next President Cosgrave will deal again shortly with the industrial situation. During the last four or five days he has been in constant touch with the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, and it is understood that certain proposals or suggestions have been drafted for early reference to employers and workers. No avenue that suggests a possibility of leading towards a solution of the trouble, I am assured, will be allowed to remain unexplored.

THE ROSSLARE ROUTE.

GREAT RUSH OF TRAFFIC.

Extraordinary scenes of bustle are to be seen daily at Rosslare Harbour since the cross-Channel passenger and live stock services were resumed. The s.s. St. David and s.s. St. Andrew have been placed on the passenger, mails, and parcels service, while the live stock and freight traffic is being catered for by the s.s. Southern and s.s. Waterford. Several hundred hands are employed, all of whom are members of the National Union of Railwaymen.

The steamer which recently arrived at Rosslare Harbour with a cargo of coal for Mr. James J. Stafford, Wexford, left with portion of the cargo, which was afterwards discharged at an English port. While the work of unloading the vessel at Rosslare Harbour was in progress the men engaged were ordered to leave.

The first advertisement asking for evidence was inserted in the newspapers on the 4th of July, and since that date more than thirty sittings have been entirely devoted to the purpose of hearing witnesses who came forward in response to the advertisements.

The Committee has almost completed a further interim report, and its further sittings will be devoted to the consideration of the evidence already given, and the preparation of its final report.

NEW CHURCH TO
OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

FREE STATE POST OFFICE.

The Free State Postmaster-General announces that the Irish Free State has adhered to the Universal Postal Convention, and is now a member of the International Postal Union.

The Union, of which practically every nation in the world is a member, has its headquarters at Berne, Switzerland. It exercises general supervision over the arrangements under which mails are exchanged between the various countries which have adhered to the Postal Union Convention.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction of Ireland have been officially informed by the British Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries that outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease have been confirmed at Pilling Lane, and at Ipstones, Staffordshire.

The Ministry have made Orders closing Preston and Heysham landing places, except for fat animals. Fleetwood remains closed.

The London office of the High Commissioner for the Irish Free State has now been transferred to 15 Regent street, S.W.1, to which all communications should henceforward be addressed.

Princess Alice and Brigadier-General the Earl of Athlone left Balmoral Castle yesterday. The Archbishop of York has also left.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

No date has yet been fixed for the holding of a conference in connection with the dockers' strike in the Free State. (Page 5.)

Sir Montague Barlow, British Minister of Labour, who attended a conference in Londonderry yesterday, expressed satisfaction at the impartial and successful manner in which Ulster had handled her social, political, and economic problems. (Page 5.)

According to an official of Vickers (Ireland), Limited, work will not be resumed at the Dublin Dockyard until the labour trouble is at an end. (Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

America won the seaplane race for the Schneider Cup yesterday at an average speed of 177½ miles an hour. An American machine was second, and the British third. (Page 7.)

ABROAD

A correspondent paints a vivid pen picture of shattered Yokohama, and indicates the first steps that are being taken to reconstruct the city. (Page 7.)

At least thirty persons have been killed in the wreck of the American express train which fell through a bridge into a flooded river. (Page 7.)

The Council of the League of Nations has referred certain questions concerning the interpretation of the Covenant—questions which arose during the Græco-Italian crisis—to a Committee of Jurists. (Page 7.)

The Greek Government has ordered the Swiss National Bank to pay 50,000,000 lire, the penalty for the Janina murders, to the Italian Government. (Page 7.)

No untoward incidents have occurred in Germany following the proclamation of a modified state of siege. (Page 7.)

Wages and Prices.

The factors which determine the cost of living in the Free State constitute one of the mysteries of Irish economics. In his speech in Dail Eireann some days ago President Cosgrave stated quite definitely that until prices were brought down to reasonable dimensions the Government could not ask the workers to accept further "cuts." A most effective answer to the President's argument is made in the statement from the Cork Employers' Federation which we print to-day; but it is true that the prices of many commodities in the Free State are far too high. Take the caso of meat. During the past fortnight the price of cattle has been tumbling. As a direct result of the shipping stoppage at the Dublin port it fell so low as forty-three shillings per hundredweight, or 5s. 3d. below the average price for the year 1915. Yet retail prices remain almost at their former level, and there seems to have been no attempt by the butchers to adjust their charges to the falling wholesale scale. A sirloin joint costs 1s. 6d. per pound, or £8 4s. per hundredweight—a price which, even when one makes all due allowance for bones and wastage, leaves an almost fantastic margin of profit. The butchers say that during the plenteous days of the war, when wages were even higher than they are to-day, the working classes bought only the best meat, and apparently the habit has stuck. The result is that the demand for prime meat is greater than the supply, while secondary "cuts" go begging, and naturally the prices of the better qualities remain at a high level in despite of wholesale prices. Furthermore, the butchers say, a working butcher could be employed in 1915 for 30s. per week; now he is paid £4 3s. In the circumstances, therefore, the master butchers allege that they cannot reduce their prices and leave themselves with a fair margin of profit. These arguments are ingenious, but they are not convincing.

There can be no real excuse for the present price of meat when the price of cattle has fallen below the pre-war level. The case of other food-stuffs and general commodities is different. Here the high cost of labour is the principal factor in the maintenance of war-time prices, and, as the Cork employers prove to-day, there can be no hope of any substantial reductions until wages bills undergo a thorough revision. The problem must be faced by the Government; for the working classes suffer more than any other section of the community through the high cost of living and the coming winter will bring much real suffering to the Free State. World prices are beyond the control of any Government. Wages and retail profits are the only factors which can be regulated, and we see no reason why the Free State Government should not set about the task immediately. The Food Prices Commission admittedly was a fiasco; but, if the Government chose to appoint a body with the necessary powers, it could ascertain the real facts without much trouble, and then, if necessary, it could fix maximum prices, as the British Government fixed them during the war. The employers, in that event, would have an unanswerable case for the reduction of wages, and in this way the economy of the Free State could be transferred frpm its present crazy basis of false values to a solid foundation of business-like reality. Something must be done soon. The present struggle between Capital and Labour is reacting adversely on every aspect of the national life, and while our whole economy is in a state of unstable equilibrium it is idle to expect political or any other kind of steadiness. The adjustment of wages and prices to economic facts is the most urgent need of the new Ireland. Until it has been completed there can be no social or commercial progress in the country.

Japan's Task.

The Free State's problems of reconstruction sink to insignificance when we compare them with the tasks that confront Japan. Yokohama had 93,000 buildings before the earthquake. Of these 68,000 have been destroyed and the population has fallen from 422,000 to 250,000. At Tokyo more than 330,000 houses were burned or fell in the earthquake. The six most populous wards of the city, low-lying and densely crowded, were blotted out, and all the great public buildings have disappeared. What attitude would Ireland have adopted to an Irish calamity of such magnitude? We cannot say, but Japan's attitude to this terrific blow of fate is already clear. Her Government and people are setting to the whole world an inspiring example of courage and enterprise and of confidence in a nation's destinies. Ruins are being cleared and accommodation has been found for tens of thousands of homeless persons and refugees. The Times tells us that on September 18th the first cargo of the present season's silk was shipped at Yokohama for the United States. In ancient centuries whole cities were abandoned and left derelict as the result of conquest or plague. Japan has been forced to consider whether this tragedy must be repeated in the case of Yokohama; but she has decided, for industrial and geographical reasons, to rebuild the city on its present site. The risks of a future earthquake have been taken into account, but it is held that no absolutely safe alternative exists. The entire Pacific coast of Japan is in the earthquake zone. Severe shocks usually occur at long intervals, and past experience suggests that the new Yokohama and the new Tokyo will be reasonably safe for the next fifty years. It is this blend of Eastern fatalism and Western energy that has set Japan among the Powers of the world.

While the cost of reconstruction will be huge, Japan's resources will be able to meet the strain. The Times makes an analysis of them which hard-pressed Ministers and taxpayers in the Free State will read with envy. The new Japan has followed a thoroughly solid and conservative system of finance and her credit stands high. Her National Debt is less than four hundred millions—little more than £5 per head of the population, as compared with £163 in Great Britain. The Bank of Japan's gold reserves are five times as large as they were before the war, and some fifty millions of these are held in London. If foreign borrowing becomes necessary, Japan will undertake it under very favourable conditions. Most of the houses which were destroyed at Tokyo and Yokohama were made of wood and few of the larger industries have suffered. The average cost of rebuilding the destroyed houses is estimated at £200 and the total cost at one hundred millions. Labour will be the principal item, and a Dublin carpenter's daily wage would reward a Japanese artisan for a full week of toil. The Times thinks that probably seventy-five per cent. of the cost of reconstruction will be furnished from Japan's internal resources and that a balance of between thirty-five and fifty millions may be spent abroad. Already the Government has placed a number of orders for building materials in Great Britain. Japan's disaster, therefore, will have in the immediate future a stimulating effect on international trade. On the other hand, it may increase the difficulties of countries which may be under the necessity of competing with her for loans or materials. "East is East and West is West," but they do meet, after all, in the money markets of modern civilisation.

Cold Storage.

We are often told that we are behind our American neighbours where the minor conveniences of the household are concerned, and among the "gadgets" most frequently thrown, as it were, in our teeth is the domestic refrigerator or, as Americans call it, the ice-box. Now the subject is raised from the point of view of hygiene rather than of convenience. The Medical Officer of Health for the City of London urges that the present use of preservatives, often deleterious, in food ought to be replaced by the American system which keeps all food, especially milk, "on ice." There is much to be said for the ice-box system, but much may be said against it. It is somewhat expensive—the American housewife pays from fivepence to two shillings a day for her daily ten-pound block of ice—but it is clean and convenient. Milk and cream remain sweet, butter comes hard to the table and meat runs no risk of going bad or inviting the attentions of the errant blow-fly. The system would be ideal, in a word, if it stopped short at the ice-box; but in America this contrivance is merely an adjunct to the cold storage warehouse. The objections to cold storage are two-fold. All cold storage food—and in the United States a chicken bought in the poulterer's shop is just as likely to be five years dead as five days—loses its flavour and tends to become tough. The result of cold storage in actual practice is that all food goes into the warehouse. There it often stays for months or years in response to some effort to corner a market or to force up prices by an artificial scarcity. The "ice habit" has other drawbacks, and on the whole we may be glad that in our country there is no need to acquire it. We ought not to be tempted to adopt it simply because it has a largely meretricious smack of hygienic progress.

Bread and Circuses.

Most trades and professions contribute at one time or another their quota to the total sum of the world's statesmen and politicians, but it is less usual for the business world to find useful recruits in the political arena. An occasional ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer may become the chairman of a bank and some lawyers return to the profession from which they sprang; but in general a politician remains a politician until the end. This happens, of course, when politics are reasonably remunerative and statesmen are worthy of their hire. Sometimes they are nothing of the kind, and then the politicians proceed to offer themselves in large numbers on the labour market. A striking example has just occurred in Buda Pesth. This enlightened, but momentarily impoverished, capital boasts a municipal circus, the managership of which recently became vacant. The emoluments of the position were not extensive, but several ex-Prime Ministers and other Ministers temporarily without portfolio applied promptly for it. Some even offered to perform the duties for quite insignificant salaries; but a professional circus proprietor arrived at the critical moment and offered, not only to forego the salary, but to take over the circus at a substantial rent. It is to be regretted that the Buda Pesth City Council felt constrained to accept this offer. It is not every day that an ex-Prime Minister has the opportunity of exercising upon jungle-fed man-eaters, "Behemoths of Holy Writ," daring equestriennes and performing fleas the arts which he acquired in the handling of truculent Secretaries of State.

THE DARDANELLES.

MR. CHURCHILL'S WAR BOOK.

We have arranged to publish a further series of articles based on Mr. Churchill's memoirs of the war. Mr. Churchill has now completed his second volume, dealing with the critical period from the end of 1914 to his resignation from the Cabinet in November of the following year, and we shall publish extracts from this section in advance of the appearance of the volume in book form. The articles will begin in the Irish Times of October 8, and will be continued daily thereafter.

The Dardanelles Expedition, in which so many gallant Irishmen lost their lives, dominates this volume of Mr. Churchill's memoirs. He not only gives a full and vivid account of the origin of the expedition, but discusses its conduct down to the evacuation.

He also narrates the important reactions which the Dardanelles operations had upon home politics, and gives for the first time a detailed account from the inside of the sudden fall of the Liberal Government in the spring of 1915.

By way of contrast, there are striking chapters on the Dogger Bank action and on the use of tanks and smoke in the war.

The new volume will be published in book form at the end of October by Thornton Butterworth, Limited.

NEW FREE STATE STAMP.

Yesterday another value of the permanent Free State issue was put on sale at all the principal Post Offices. It is the 4d. value in the Arms type, illustrated a few weeks ago when the 2½d. value was issued. The colour is officially described as steel blue. The paper, watermark, and perforation are the same as in all the permanent issues.

LONDON LETTER.

MR. BALDWIN'S SPEECH.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

Much comment has been made to-day on the fact that Mr. Baldwin said so little in his speech last night on the European situation; but, inasmuch as the same situation is as much the affair of the overseas Dominions as it is that of Great Britain, it is not altogether surprising that the Prime Minister determined to reserve his full statement for the opening of the Imperial Conference. On that occasion Mr. Baldwin intends to make a long speech, laying stress on all that passed in Paris, and, in the circumstances, few people will feel inclined to cavil that he should prefer to address the representatives of the Empire rather than a small assembly of partisans at Northampton.

In Downing street an air of mystery is still maintained concerning the Prime Minister and his Paris visit; but at the Foreign Office the idea is that the Prime Minister will on Monday take the world into his confidence. It is firmly believed in diplomatic circles that Mr. Baldwin will then adumbrate a policy which will meet with approval. The developments of the present week in Germany, however, will necessitate great caution, and what the policy to be enunciated is remains a secret for the moment. It is thought that Mr. Baldwin will announce that Great Britain is prepared to reappoint a representative on the Reparations Commission, and that France is ready to agree to an inquiry into Germany's ability to pay. The Prime Minister has no intention of advising the King to summon Parliament at an earlier date than November ..th, the date originally fixed; but plans are ready in case it should prove necessary to call it together sooner than expected. The Labour demand for an earlier meeting is just the usual demand made whenever Parliament happens to be in recess.

The German Dictators.

The German situation remains most interesting; for the arch-dictator in Berlin, Dr. Gessler, is calling upon the rival dictator in Munich, Dr. von Kahr, to resign and leave him to manage the whole business. It is possible that this request will be acceded to; for the Imperial Government have sent troops to Munich, with General Lossow in command, to enforce obedience to its wishes. Thus, we have the rather amusing situation of Bavaria being occupied by troops who take their orders from the dictator in Berlin, and not from the one in Munich. Herr Hittler, so long regarded as the coming Mussolini of Bavaria, is remaining quiet for the present, and General Lossow prohibited his meetings in Munich last night when he called upon the Bavarian Fascisti to rally to his call.

The Unemployed.

That the Government will need to pay attention to the needs of the unemployed during the winter is an accepted fact, and it is possible that, with the reassembling of Parliament, that the Prime Minister will be in a position to announce what further steps the Government means to take to alleviate the position. The Communists, in any event, mean to exploit to the utmost the unemployment problem, and the notorious Mr. Hannington, who organised the hunger-marchers of last winter and the early spring, is associated with a scheme whereby the local boards of guardians may be terrorised. The unemployed are to organise "mass marches" to demand the "national scale" for the winter, while great demonstrations calling for an immediate meeting of Parliament will form part of the programme. This form of terrorism is not likely to influence Parliament, and Mr. Baldwin, like Mr. Bonar Law, is the wrong gentleman to threaten.

Premiers' Digestions.

The Prime Ministers from overseas will be thankful that somebody has been thinking about their digestions; for it is announced that they are to be regaled with the lightest of meals when they consent to lunch or dine in public. In 1907 several Premiers were made ill by the constant round of hospitality, and it is hoped to avoid any such untoward circumstance this year. The House of Lords will not give a dinner to the Prime Ministers this year, and it is possible that other fixtures accompanied by meals may be abandoned. In any case, the meals are to be as light and simple as possible, so that a strain on the time and on the digestion will be avoided.

The Dunlop Report.

The publication of the Dunlop investigation report is long delayed, and rumours are current in the city as to its drastic character. Indeed, it is reported to be so drastic in its recommendations that it may never see the light. This, however, seems unlikely; for the investigation was one of a more or less official character, and cannot be passed over.

Irish Tea Blenders.

The silver medal in the tea blending class 14 at the Grocers' Exhibition, held this week at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, was secured by Mr. Charles Montgomery, of Portadown. Since there was a record list of entries this year, the win is a distinct score for Ireland. Another compliment to Ireland was paid by the selection of Mr. William Bellew, of Bellew Brothers, Sligo, who officiated as a judge throughout the week in the tea blending classes.

The Schneider Cup.

Many Americans have come over for the Schneider Cup contest, and others have prolonged their stay in this country until after the great seaplane race has been decided. But for the American entries there might have been no race this year; for it was only after the United States seaplanes had been entered that Britain, France and Italy decided to compete. The Italian entries have been withdrawn, and of the four American machines only two have survived the tests which have been held in English waters, while British interests were to-day represented by one machine. France was the only country with a full team of three machines. The American success to-day was not unexpected; for strenuous efforts had been made to achieve victory, while in this country no preparations had been made for the contest until a few weeks ago.

Church Music.

The report of the Archbishop of Canterbury's Lambeth Committee on music in worship was issued to-day, and, though it contains much that is technical, it will provide food for thought on the part of parson and laity alike. After rebuking those who think that elaborate music is in itself superior to simple, the report declares that the ideal in all parish churches is congregation singing, and that every congregation is well within its right if it claims to join in all the singing portions of the Prayer Book Services, with the exception of the priest's part, etc. Regarding the organ, we are told that its function is "to be an adornment, and not a necessity. When it becomes a necessity it is in danger of ceasing to be an adornment."

The Priest's Part.

The importance of the priest's part singing the Service is fully recognised, and suggestions are made for the musical education of priests as part of their ordinary training. There is a serious warning against emotionalism in church music, especially at "Mission Services," where "unworthy and really deleterious music" has, unfortunately, an almost unchallenged sway.

THE IRON HAND IN GERMANY.

NO DISORDERS REPORTED.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF HERR STRESEMANN FEARED.

FRANCE'S RUHR POLICY.

BERLIN, Friday.

A semi-official statement issued here remarks that it was to be expected that serious disorders would occur in consequence of the cessation of passive resistance, but that, in order to avert breaches of the public peace and movements against the unity of the Empire, the Imperial Government has taken measures enabling it to deal with any disturbances with all the forces at its disposal. It is to be hoped, the statement adds, that disturbances will be averted, but should they occur anywhere, they will at once be opposed in such a way as to preclude any danger to the State.—(Reuter.)

"NORMAL" CONDITIONS

CURIOUS SITUATION IN BAVARIA.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Friday.

The "improvement" in Germany's internal situation has been maintained to-day. The Monarchists here and in Bavaria continue to fume and fret and threaten, but it seems clear that no immediate effort to overthrow the Republic will be made.

The Bavarian hotheads, led by Adolf Hitler, have sobered down, although the paradox of a violent anti-Republican reactionary like Von Kahr supporting the Constitution against reactionaries a shade more violent than himself does not inspire confidence for the future.

Surrender to the French in the Ruhr has rendered the Stresemann Cabinet thoroughly odious, and incidentally makes the Chancellor a likely target for Junker assassins. Police precautions at the Chancellery are, therefore, of a most rigid nature.

Meanwhile, throughout the country the Generals, under the limited powers conferred by the modified state of siege, are taking over control, suppressing newspapers, forbidding public demonstrations, and prying, doubtless, through their subordinates, into citizens' post-bags.

The Socialists who clamour for the use of the "iron hand" in Bavaria, squeal loudly because of its drastic use by General Muller, who is making his powers felt in "Red" Saxony.

On the whole, however, conditions throughout the country are reverting to the normal, which, judged by British standards, is still inordinately crazy. Potato robber bands nightly raid farmers' fields and hen-roosts; banks, owing to the pressure of the work caused by the slumping exchange, are taking on thousands of fresh clerks, and "dismissing" all customers whose deposit accounts fall below 300,000,000 marks (about 6s.), as causing more trouble than profit.

DICTATOR WINS.

BAVARIAN FASCISTI DEMOBILISED.

BERLIN, Friday.

Realising that discretion is the better part of valour, Herr Adolf Hittler has ordered his followers to return to their homes, announcing, at the same time, that they will be notified when the time comes.

There is now no reason to apprehend any movement against the Government which is likely to have the slightest chance of success.

The Stresemann Government has, undoubtedly, the support of the majority of the German people in its decision to call off resistance in the Ruhr, and the workers in occupied Germany are only too pleased that the miseries of the past nine months are now likely to come to an end.—(Press Association Foreign Special.)

MOVEMENT SPLIT.

A RELIGIOUS QUESTION.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Friday.

The Bavarian Monarchist movement is split into two wings. The one, under von Kahn George Helms, President of the Peasants' Party, and leader of the so-called "Green" Internationale of the World Peasantry, and the Crown Prince Rupprecht, favours the restoration of the Wittlesbach Dynasty. All its followers are Catholics, with a few exceptions, the most brilliant exception being von Kahr himself.

The second movement is headed by Ludendorff, who is a Protestant, and Hittler, Commander of the Fascists.

The Ministerial Council, which named von Kahr as Dictator, is almost entirely Catholic, and distrustful of Ludendorff and of the Protestant movement.

RICH WOMAN'S DEATH.

RELATIVES DEMAND INQUIRY.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Friday.

Mystery surrounds the sudden death of Mrs. Charles Webb, the daughter of Mr. S. Jennings Gorman, a member of one of New York's oldest families, in the fashionable Westchester County Club on Tuesday night. Mrs. Webb's doctor has refused to sign the death certificate, and has notified the Coroner to this effect, and the relatives have demanded a post-mortem examination. The viscera is to be examined for the purpose of ascertaining whether poison is present in the body. It is understood that Mrs. Webb has been ill for three weeks, but death came unexpectedly. She has been living at the fashionable club for the past month with her husband, to whom she was married only a year ago. She is reputed to have been very wealthy in her own right.

PRINCE OF WALES TO VISIT MONTREAL.

SHOT WHILE FLYING.

PARIS, Friday.

During a shooting practice at Cazaux, Gironde, in the air, Second Lieutenant Morand suddenly fell back, calling on the pilot to land as he was wounded. He was found suffering from a serious wound in the shoulder, and was at once transported to Bordeaux by hospital aeroplane. No clue has yet been found of the origin of the shot which wounded the officer.—(Reuter.)

TRAIN LOOTED BY BANDITS.

RIGA, Friday.

An armed attack has been made on a Latvian train at Daudzevas, near the Lithuanian frontier. The driver was obliged to slow up owing to an obstruction on the line, when four masked robbers boarded the train, and, opening fire, seriously wounded the driver and one of the passengers. They then plundered the mail, and robbed the passengers of valuables amounting to £2,000.—(Reuter.)

FRENCH CAUTION.

GERMANY'S GOOD FAITH DOUBTED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Friday.

Prudent reserve continues to mark official comments on the situation in Germany, on which it is thought much light is still needed.

This evening's news from Munich is that everything is quiet there, and this strengthens the belief here that events will not develop tragically.

It is recognised that they may react strongly in the Ruhr, and this obviously is one more reason for caution.

As to the Ruhr itself, it is not felt that the good faith of the Berlin Government has been sufficiently demonstrated. It is pointed out that the decree proclaiming the end of passive resistance fails to make clear that all the hostile ordinances are to be withdrawn, and the appointment of Herr Fuchts, who was expelled by the Inter-Allied High Commission, as Imperial Commissioner to supervise the return to normal conditions creates suspicion that the German Government thinks that the gradual resumption of work may still offer opportunity for bargaining.

This, I am told, will not be tolerated, and no negotiations will be accepted before the restoration of working conditions in mines, factories, etc. So far the only move in this direction reported is the return to their desks of the postal and telegraph clerks.

Opinion here is prepared to find that peace will easily be made between Von Kahn and the various Monarchist factions in Bavaria, and that Munich and Berlin will agree on a common policy hostile to France.

PARIS, Friday.

Among ordinances which have not been cancelled is one of January 13th last, which forbade German Nationals continuing to make delivery in kind to the Allies.

The French Government, before entering into negotiations with the Reich, will insist on this measure, which is contrary to the Treaty of Versailles, being repealed.—(Reuter.)

IN THE RUHR.

SUPPORT FOR THE REPUBLIC.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
COLOGNE, Friday.

Reports from every part of the Rhineland indicate that, in spite of all influences to the contrary, the population of the province continues to accord the fullest support to the Central Government.

An expression of confidence in the Government was the feature of a meeting of the representatives of the Free Trade Unions of the occupied territory, held at Giessen yesterday evening, and all political parties in the Rhineland have completed arrangements for a mass meeting to take place in Cologne on Sunday, as a demonstration of loyalty towards the Central Government.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
DUSSELDORF, Friday.

When the Separatists chose Dusseldorf for their Rhineland Convention next Sunday, they thought that the city boasted enough halls to accommodate the expected 200,000 delegates. But to-day it is learned that the Socialists, Communists, and other Left bodies have rented every hall and theatre in Dusseldorf.

The only means whereby the Separatists can meet indoors is to ask the French to requisition the halls the Socialists have rented.

DEMANDING MONEY UNDER ARMS.

AN ARREST IN LIMERICK.

Soldiers at Limerick on Thursday night arrested a man, whose name has not been disclosed, on a charge of "holding up" with a revolver two city men, near the Fair Green. The men were returning to the city when they were stopped, and their money was demanded. When they refused to give up their money their assailant pulled out a revolver and fired over their heads. The matter was reported to the military authorities.

POACHING TRAWLERS.

HEAVY FINES ON FRENCH CAPTAINS.

The skippers of the Boulogne steam trawlers, La Providence, La Leane, and Marie Rose, were each fined £10, and three guineas costs, and the trawling gear and fish catches were confiscated by the Brixham magistrates yesterday, for illegally fishing in territorial waters off the Devon coast during the early morning of Thursday last.

It was stated that the La Leane, the third boat to be captured, made a bold bid for freedom. When discovered she darted off at full speed in an easterly direction, but eased down her engines when the Government fishery cruiser Colne was about to take drastic measures with her gun. The La Providence was near the Skerries Bell Buoy when captured with the trawl down. The La Leane had no lights up, and towed her gear foul of sunken wreckage nine-tenths of a mile inside the territorial limit.

WOUNDED MAN LEAVES HOSPITAL.

It was reported yesterday that the wounded man, who was taken to the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital, Dublin, on Sunday night, had disappeared from the hospital on Wednesday. According to the story, the man, who gave his name as Murphy, was arrested on Sunday night with another man, as he left Amiens street railway station. He broke away, was fired at and wounded, and was taken in the ambulance to the hospital.

On Wednesday he was missing, and it is alleged that he went off in a motor car.

On inquiry at the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital yesterday, it was learned that the wounded man, who was known as Murphy, had left the hospital, but no further information on the subject was to be had anywhere.

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN AMERICA.

BRIDGE UNDERMINED BY FLOOD.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Friday.

Thirty bodies have already been recovered from the wreck of a train which last night fell through a bridge into a flooded river near Casper, Wyoming. It is believed that the total death roll will amount to 70 at least, and one survivor places it as high as a hundred. In addition, there is a very heavy list of injured.

The disaster occurred to a train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, which at this spot traverses the heart of a rich oil district. Many prominent men are believed to be among the victims. Recent cloudbursts had converted the creek spanned by the bridge into a wide muddy torrent, which seems to have weakened the bridge foundations, with the result that part of the structure collapsed as the train was passing over it.

The crash occurred in pitch darkness. Four cars, with the engine, plunged into the middle of the river, and in a few minutes were completely submerged, the passengers, who were mostly asleep, having little or no chance of escape from the raging waters. A number of them, including some women, did succeed in reaching the car roofs, but before help could reach them they were swept away and drowned.

A fifth car, a sleeper, remained standing on end with another coach, and from these some escapes are reported.

CORK INDUSTRIAL IDSPUTES.

EMPLOYERS' REPLY TO PRESIDENT COSGRAVE.

Under the caption, "The Cork Employers' Federation, Limited," we print on our front advertising page to-day an important reasoned reply by the Cork employers to President Cosgrave's speech in the Dail on Tuesday last on the subject of industrial disputes. The Cork employers point out that the views expressed by President Cosgrave "do not coincide with the opinions generally held by our body, and, we believe, by employers generally."

They challenge, especially, the view that both the workers and employers are to blame for the present industrial crisis. "In Cork the employers have taken the serious steps adopted by them in the endeavour to save their businesses and the trade of the city from total destruction." In proof of that contention, they compare the rates of wages paid in various trades in Cork with those obtaining in Dublin, Manchester, and London, showing that the rates in Cork are much higher than elsewhere and, they ask, "Do you blame us for seeking some redress from this state of affairs?" After showing that the workers have refused to meet them in conference and discuss the subject, they ask:—"On whose shoulders would you lay the blame for this?" The local rule, that the employer must retain his full staff, regardless of the state of trade, is cited, and they ask President Cosgrave whether their attempt to have this rule abolished is blameworthy.

Next they challenge the contention that it is unreasonable to expect a reduction in wages without a reduction in the cost of living, and they point out that, while reductions have taken place in the cost of living, there have been practically no reductions in the wages of those involved in the Cork dispute. "To effect further reductions in the cost of living, the workers in the Free State must now be prepared to do their share." "Wages must be reduced immediately to an economic level to enable our businesses to carry-on and retain their efficiency." Finally, they urge that some machinery should be devised which would obviate the necessity of strikes and industrial upheavals.

CORK FARMER'S APPEAL.

DECREE FOR £250 AFFIRMED.

In the Dail Eireann Courts (Winding Up) Commission, in Dublin yesterday, before Mr. J. C. Meredith, Chief Commissioner (presiding), Messrs. D. Crowley, and St. L. Devitt, an appeal was heard in the case of Ryan v. Creagh.

The plaintiff, William Ryan, a carter, living near Charleville, Co. Cork, sued the defendant, Patrick Creagh, a local farmer, for damages for the betrayal of his (plaintiff's) daughter while in the defendant's service in 1920. It appeared from the evidence at the hearing that the girl had returned to the service of the defendant against the wishes and without the knowledge of her parents. She was finally removed from Creagh's place by members of the I.R.A. The plaintiff claimed £550 damages, and the Circuit Judge, Mr. Davitt, in the District Court of North Cork, awarded him £250, with £15 15s. costs. From this decision the defendant appealed, and the case came before the Court on questions of law and fact, it being contended that, as the girl was in the employment of the defendant, an action did not lie. A question also arose as to the amount of damages awarded.

Mr. E. J. McElligott, K.C. (Mr. J. J. Lenehan), for the appellant (defendant), and Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C., with Mr. James Comyn (Mr. R. Fox), for the respondent (plaintiff).

The Court upheld the decision of Mr. Justice Davitt, and dismissed the appeal.

TAILTEANN FORTNIGHT.

THE MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

In connection with the Tailteann Games in August, 1924, it will be of interest to know that strenuous efforts are being made to bring the arrangements for a musical festival up to the highest degree of perfection. A Committee, made up of the best Irish musicians, is working whole-heartedly to make the musical side of the programme as comprehensive as possible. This will comprise vocal and instrumental competition, including choral, orchestral (small and large), brass and reed, civilian and military, flute (junior and senior), and pipers' bands.

Grand opera is also receiving attention. During the fortnight covered by the Games and the Horse Show grand opera will be performed in Dublin, one week being devoted to opera in the Gaelic tongue and the other week to Anglo-Irish operas by Irish composers.

The personnel of the Musical Sub-Committee is as follows:—Mr. J. Clarke Barry, Mr. L. Braid, Mr. Arthur Darley, Mr. D. J. Delaney (bandmaster, Civic Guard band), Mr. C. P. FitzGerald, Dr. George Hewson, Mr. M. J. Lynch, Mr. J. Moody, Mr. Denis McCullough, Mr. Joseph O'Mara, Mr. Vincent O'Brien, Professor Robert O'Dwyer (Chairman), and Mr. Thomas H. Weaving.

"THE TIMES" BY AIR.

The Plymouth-Manchester-Belfast experimental air mail service was continued yesterday under more favourable weather conditions. The De Haviland machine arrived at Aldergrove aerodrome, near Belfast, shortly before one o'clock. It carried parcels of The Times which were circulated in Belfast twenty hours ahead of the regular delivery by rail and steamboat services. The aeroplane returned to Manchester at two o'clock.

NORTHERN EDUCATION ACT.

The Belfast Gazette, published last night, contains an Order in Council bringing the Northern Education Act into operation on the 1st October. It deals in detail with the various sections of the Act that are to be put into operation in county boroughs and counties on that date. The Gazette also contained the Northern Ireland teachers' pension rules.

SEAPLANE RACE.

AMERICA WINS THE CUP.

177½ MILES AN HOUR.

FROM MAJOR W. T. BLAKE.
COWES, Friday.

The race for the Schneider Cup was won by the American Curtis C.R. 3, piloted by Lieutenant David Rittenhouse, U.S.A., at an average speed of 177.38 miles an hour, an increase of 30 miles per hour on the speed of the winning machine last year. The times for the course of 211 land miles were:—

America—1 hour 12 mins. 26 4-5 secs.
Britain—1 hour 21 mins. 46 secs.

Second place was taken by Lieutenant Rutledge Irvine, U.S.A., also on a Curtis C.R. 3 machine, and the third was the British super-marine Sea Lion, which averaged 157.16 miles per hour for the course. No other machine finished the course.

Promptly to time the two American machines appeared on the mark, getting off in fine style, Lieutenant Rittenhouse slightly in advance of Lieutenant Irvine. A quarter of an hour later the British machine appeared, getting off the mark almost exactly as the first American machine completed the first lap. At first there was some doubt as to whether the British machine would be disqualified for it rose from the water before the starting point, and bounced once or twice as it passed the mark boats. After some discussion, the stewards ruled that, as the machine was not actually flying as it crossed the mark, it had complied with the conditions of the race.

Only one of the French machines actually started, the C.A.M.S. 38, piloted by M. Hurel, getting off at 11.30 a.m. The twin-engined Latham did not compete owing to inability to start up the engine, while the C.A.M.S. 36 A, in avoiding a buoy, collided with the Stunding while taxying to the starting point, badly splitting the boat's fuselage, and having to be towed back to the hangars.

The American machines lapped with splendid regularity, turning their points in excellent fashion without losing a yard. Captain Baird, on the supermarine Sea Lion, was wider in his turns, and undoubtedly lost a considerable number of seconds in this way. The solitary French machine was compelled by engine trouble to land between Southsea and Ryde during the second lap, thus putting France out of the race.

Tremendous cheers greeted the arrival of Lieutenant Rittenhouse at the winning post, and a further burst of cheering was given to Captain Baird.

The race has now been won twice by Britain, twice by Italy, and once by France and America. Next year, as the Americans, as holders, have choice of the course, the race will probably be held in America.

An official of the American Embassy informed me that it had cost America nearly £50,000 to win the race, while a member of the team sent over estimated the whole cost at nearly a million pounds.

ORDER RESTORED.

END OF BULGARIAN REVOLT.

SOFIA, Friday.

The last Communist stongholds in Feodin and Ovo were surrounded by troops this morning, and the Communists were arrested.

The Government has addressed a manifesto to the nation, in which it condemns the action of the Communists, and exhorts the citizens to remain at their posts, and to preserve order and tranquillity.

The Holy Synod has issued Pastoral Letters containing similar exhortation to order and tranquillity, which is to be read in all churches and posted up in the porches.

OBITUARY.

THE HON. MRS. CAMERON BARCLAY.

We regret to announce the death yesterday, at the Grand Hotel, Royat-les-Bains, France, of the Hon. Mrs. Cameron Barclay, sister of Lord Decies. Mrs. Barclay was the Hon. Charlotte Ernestine, third daughter of the third Baron Decies and Catherine Anne, daughter of the late Mr. William D. Dent (now the Dowager Lady Decies). She was born in 1871, and in 1892 was married to Captain Cameron Barclay, late 10th Hussars. Mrs. Barclay had been seriously ill of late, and was staying at Royat for her health. A few days ago, however, she was reported to be somewhat better. Her mother and her daughter, Lady Edward Hay, were with her.

SIR JOHN HALLIDAY CROOM.

The death has occurred in Edinburgh of Emeritus Professor Sir John Halliday Croom, the distinguished surgical specialist, who retired from the Chair of Midwifery in Edinburgh University two years ago. He was 76 years of age. He held a number of posts in medical societies throughout the country. He was knighted in 1902, and a year ago received the degree of Doctor of Laws at Edinburgh.

SIR SAMUEL CHISHOLM.

Sir Samuel Chisholm, Bart., ex-Lord Provost of Glasgow, and a prominent temperance advocate, has died at the age of 87. Sir Samuel was a former Lord Lieutenant of the County of the City of Glasgow, Chairman of the Clyde Navigation Trustees, and Chairman of the Glasgow and West of Scotland College of Domestic Science.

MR. JAMES GRUNDY.

The death is announced in London at the age of 71, of Mr. James Grundy, for some years Mines Inspector for the Manchester and Ireland districts, and afterwards Inspector of Mines for India.

PIGS AS A NUISANCE.

MR. LUPTON AND A LAIRAGE.

Among summonses for breaches of sanitary regulations heard by Mr. Lupton, K.C., in the Dublin Police Court yesterday, was one against John Hoey, in respect of swine kept by him at the rear of the premises, 11 Queen street. It was stated that the swine were so kept as to be a nuisance and injurious to health.

A Corporation Inspector said that he visited the piggery, and found a number of swine there. The premises were close to dwelling-houses.

Mr. Gleeson said that he would like to point out that his client was not keeping a pig-sty. He merely kept a lairage for pigs, waiting for transit to England and other places. The lairage was licensed by the Department of Agriculture, and they had issued, under their seal, a licence to keep a pig lairage at this place. There were stringent conditions dealing with the cleanliness of this lairage. The piggery was constructed under the supervision of the Corporation, and it was fitted up with all the conveniences that modern science could devise. It would mean a very substantial blow to his client if he had to shift to some other place.

Mr. Lupton said that this matter of keeping pigs in the city was becoming a nuisance, and it was dangerous to the public health. He imposed a fine of £5, with 2s. 6d. costs.

Notice of appeal was given.

Mr. Lupton said that he hoped that there would be an appeal, and that some public attention would be directed to the matter.

WESTMEATH COUNCIL AND THE PRISONERS.

A special meeting of the Westmeath County Council, at Mullingar, yesterday passed unanimously a resolution demanding the unconditional release of the political prisoners, including those in Northern Ireland and in England.

The Ballymore District Council has adopted a resolution calling for the release of prisoners confined for political offences.

General Weygand, French High Commissioner for Syria, has ordered a Commission of experts to investigate the possibilty of utilising the water power of the Nahr Ibrahim, which enters the sea about twelve miles north of Beirut.

FOOD PRICES IN DUBLIN.

WHY MEAT IS DEAR.

SOME OPINIONS OF A TRADER.

Asked to explain why the retail price of meat was not lower, in view of the fall in the price of fat cattle, the manager of an extensive victualling house in Dublin yesterday told an Irish Times representative:—"There is plenty of cheap meat available for those who want it, and it lies with the public to bring down prices by giving their trade to people who have such meat for sale.

"While the meat which we offer is from heifers or bullocks, it will be found that that which is being offered at a low price is cow beef. When anything like that is wanted," he added, pointing to a prime leg of mutton, "we must get a fair price in order to make a living. During the war working people got into the way of buying the best. As a result, there is such a demand for prime cuts that we have the greatest difficulty in disposing of the secondary parts at any price.

"We," he continued, "still pay wages and other expenses at the same rate as ruled in 1920. The city rates are 19s. 9d. in the £, compared with 11s. 11d. in 1912-13, and butchers who received 30s. per week then are now in receipt of £4 3s. per week. Other expenses have gone up in the same proportion."

Another member of the meat trade said that while expenses remained at their present level he saw little chance of any substantial reduction in retail prices.

A SLIGHT REDUCTION.

Some establishments have actually reduced the price of prime meat this week by about a penny per lb., but there is no indication of a general fall.

At the Dublin Cattle Market, although trade was not so good as last week's, the average price of fat cattle showed an advance of 1s. 3d. per cwt., the figure being 42s. 3d. This is 5s. 3d. per cwt. under the average for the corresponding week in 1915, and seems to indicate that, other things being equal, the retail price of meat should be lower.

Current retail prices of meat, compared with those ruling three months ago, and also during the corresponding period of 1920, when they were at their peak, are as follow:—

	Now.	3 Months ago.	In 1920.

BACON PRICES.

For some time there has been considerable difficulty in obtaining Irish bacon in the shops. The price has gone up 2d. to 4d. per pound. This was chiefly due to the closing of a number of Southern factories, owing to a labour dispute, which has now been adjusted.

EGG AND BUTTER TRADE.

Eggs are plentiful, and are being sold at from 1s. 10d. to 2s. 8d. per dozen. Owing to the dock strike the export trade has been badly hit.

The price of butter has advanced recently, as is usual at this time of the year, and there has also been an advance in the price of sugar.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FREE STATE.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

The official opening of the Oireachtas on Wednesday next will be preceded by special Services in St. Patrick's Cathedral and in the Pro-Cathedral, Marlborough street. An invitation to these Services has been sent officially to members of both Houses. It is understood that the Governor-General will attend the Service in the Pro-Cathedral in State.

Both Houses will assemble in the afternoon to hear the Governor-General's address.

No official announcement has been made regarding the three members of the Executive Council who will represent the Free State at the Imperial Conference, which opens in London on Monday, but I am informed that President Cosgrave will be accompanied by Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald, Minister of External Affairs, and Mr. Joseph McGrath, Minister of Industry and Commerce. All three will leave Kingstown to-day by the evening mail boat. The President, however, will be in his place in the Dail when the Governor-General delivers his address on Wednesday.

Mr. McGrath will represent the Free State at the Economic Conference.

The suggestion made in a contemporary yesterday to the effect that a series of proposals had been forwarded to the Government on behalf of the prisoners, under the signature of Mr. Frank Aiken, was declared in official quarters yesterday to be without foundation. No suggestion or proposals for a conference or otherwise, it was stated, had been received by the Government; they "had no knowledge whatever of the reported proposals." At the Republican Headquarters in Suffolk street it was stated there was "no foundation for the report that any approach or suggestions had been made by the prisoners in the direction indicated."

UNITED WE STAND.

MR. MASSEY AND THE EMPIRE'S PROBLEMS.

On arrival at Southampton yesterday, Mr. W. F. Massey, the New Zealand Premier, said that the three main heads of discussion at the Imperial Conference would be economic, constitutional, and defence. He thought that the time had arrived when it was necessary that every part of the Empire should help economically the other parts.

It was quite evident to anyone who looked into the position that Great Britain could not depend upon Europe as a market for her manufactured goods in the way that obtained before the war. There was nothing in sight except the overseas countries of the Empire, and they required to be cultivated to a certain extent. But it was worth doing. The move was with the British Government, and the Colonies awaited it.

"We realise," he said, "the truth of the saying, 'united we stand, divided we fall.'" The constitutional position also required to be very carefully considered. The British Empire was to-day more necessary than ever to the peace of the world.—(Reuter.)

LIMERICK POST OFFICE RAID.

THREE MEN ARRESTED.

Three men, armed with revolvers, entered the sub-post office at Croom, Co. Limerick, on Thursday night, and demanded from the Postmistress, Mrs. E. O'Connell, all the money she had for the payment of old age pensions. She replied that she had none. The raiders then produced revolvers, and, brushing her aside, went behind the counter and ransacked the drawers, seizing £13 in cash and money-orders, and a quantity of cigarettes. On leaving they warned her, on pain of death, to remain on the premises until they had got clear away.

The military headquarters at Limerick and the Civic Guard were informed of the raid. A party of soldiers went along the railway line towards Patrick's Well, and met three men, whom they called upon to halt. The challenge being ignored, the soldiers fired, and the three men surrendered. Two Webley revolvers and an automatic pistol were found on them. Near them was found a sum of money. The men were taken to Limerick and detained.

Queen Olga of Greece and the Princess Victoria have arrived at Sandringham.

FAITH IN LEAGUE.

DR. MACNEILL'S SPEECH IN ASSEMBLY.

COMPETENCE QUESTION.

GENEVA, Friday.

The crux of this afternoon's sitting of the Assembly of the League of Nations was the anxiously-awaited decision of the Council on the questions respecting the competence of the Council in the matter of the recent conflict between Italy and Greece.

The decision was read out by Viscount Ishii, and the substance of it was that the Council referred the questions raised to a special Commission of Jurists, who are to have their report in readiness for the December meeting of the Council.

When Viscount Ishii had finished reading the statement, M. Branting (Sweden), who rose amid loud and prolonged cheers, declared that he preferred the permanent Court of International Justice to the Special Commission of Jurists.

Lord Robert Cecil (Great Britain) upheld the principles of the Covenant, and urged the necessity of deciding at once the questions at issue. His utterance was greeted with loud applause.

Dr. Nansen said that he, like M. Branting, would have preferred to see the questions referred to the Court of International Justice, but he hoped that the course adopted would conduce to a satisfactory settlement of the matter.

Professor MacNeill (Irish Free State), in a maiden speech, said that he recognised that the means for ensuring international peace through the operation of the League were not yet perfect, but there was real reassurance in the words of the statement read by the President of the Council. "The test of our desire for peace," he said, "the test of our sincerity, the test of our fidelity to our principles to which we have subscribed must be held to be our willingness and our readiness when a rupture arises to have recourse in the first instance to the means of settlement which the League of Nations can afford."

GREECE PAYS PENALTY.

REPLY TO AMBASSADORS' NOTE.

ATHENS, Friday.

The Greek Government's reply to the Note from the Ambassadors' Conference regarding the handing over of the deposit of 50 million lire to the Italians as reparations for the Janina murders will be presented to the French Minister to-morrow. The reply, although expressing regrets at the failure of the Conference to await the termination of the international inquiry, declares that Greece accepts the Ambassadors' decision.

Acting on the instructions of the Greek Government, the National Bank of Greece has telegraphed to the Swiss National Bank ordering it to pay immediately to Italy the sum of 50 million lire.

Reuter's Agency learns that the following message has been received in London from a semi-official Greek source in Athens:—"A telegram from Corfu received this morning states that the Italian flagship, which left last night, did not pass the northern point of the island, but came back after midnight with lights out, and anchored at another point. The transport accompanying her has not reappeared. The town of Corfu commenced liberation fêtes to-day."

THANKS FROM "QUEEN OF KINGS."

ABYSSINIA AND THE LEAGUE.

FROM OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Friday.

At about midday to-day a crisp-haired, black bearded figure, clad in a jet-black silk cape over a kind of white surplice, with white trousers, gathered in at the ankles, mounted the Assembly Throne, and settling a pair of gold-rimmed glasses deliberately on his swarthy nose, proceeded to address the expectant delegations, in phrases even more recondite than fell from the lips of President Cosgrave, three weeks ago.

The sentiments M. Dedjazmatch Nadeou enunciated in faultless Ethiopian, were subsequently rendered into French and English, and it was then discovered that "in the name of Her Majesty Zeouditou, Queen of Kings," the Abyssinian delegate was rendering heartfelt thanks for the admission of his country to membership of the League of Nations.

A vote on that question had just been taken, and the Assembly was shown to be unanimous on the point. In consequence, the black-caped Dedjazmatch Nadeou and his azure-caped colleague, unfortunately anonymous so far is I am concerned, are now seated among the Assembly delegates.

FARMING IN AMERICA.

LANDHOLDERS SEEK RELIEF.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, Friday.

A committee of bankers, farmers, and Congressmen of the six Middle Western States waited upon President Coolidge and urged upon him plans for the immediate relief of the American farmer. They proposed the revival of the United States Grain Corporation, reduction in freight rates of wheat and flour, and the calling of a special session of Congress to enact legislation for the farmers' relief.

The revival of the United States Grain Corporation is aimed at the stabilisation of prices under Government supervision, with the cooperation of the farmers, and exercising control over the acreage planted and the times of marketing.

President Coolidge listened with great interest, exhibiting surprising intimacy with the farmers' problems, but not expressing any attitude.

FLOODS IN INDIA.

SIMLA, Friday.

The Gumti is in flood, and Lucknow is partly under water. Much damage has been done to property, and the Government and private buildings are surrounded with water. Breaches have been made in roads, and rescue boats are at work. The surrounding villages have suffered heavily.—(Reuter.)

Joseph Cook, aged 10, was presented with money and a certificate by the Newport (Mon.) Mayor for rescuing a cat from the River Usk, into which it had been thrown in a bag by two men.

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

DIFFICULT PROBLEMS.

The Times, in a leading article upon the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference, observes:—The agenda paper, to which contributions have been made by all the more important business organisations, has grown to formidable proportions, and covers a great range of subjects. There are constructive proposals that will need very careful investigation, and suggestions for the removal of obstacles that are found in practice to hamper business. Among the matters of foremost importance is the better distribution of the people. In the United Kingdom the growth of population side by side with widespread unemployment presents a problem of increasing difficulty. No scheme of State-aided emigration yet propounded has been in any way adequate. The shipment of emigrants unsuited to the life they are likely to lead in the Dominions is as cruel as it is futile. Preliminary training and some supervison and assistance on arrival are necessary, but that is by no means all.

On their side the Dominions are reluctant to accept the responsibility of a large access of population unless a market is assured for the greater production that may be expected to follow. How closely the two subjects are interlocked is well illustrated by the specific instance provided by the Murray Valley irrigation scheme. This great Australian project will enable three-quarters of a million people to make a home of the land, provided only that they can find an outlet for their production. One of the most promising fields for the new settlers lies in the dried fruit industry, and the Australian Government urges that the United Kingdom should give an effective preference to dried fruit imported from the Dominions with the object of ensuring a market to the prospective settlers, and rendering it possible to establish them in their new home. How far the British Government can go in this direction is one of the questions for consideration at the Economic Conference.

GERMAN DICTATORSHIP.

GENERALS IN CONTROL.

In a message from Berlin yesterday The Times Correspondent states:—The inauguration of the military dictatorship has passed off so far without a hitch. Apart from slight disturbances in Dresden, where unemployed riots are endemic, there have been no outbreaks of any kind. Reichswehr generals have been given full powers in all the seven military districts. Though there is a surface appearance of smoothness, due possibly to the delight of a large section of the German people at having actually achieved a dictatorship, there is an undercurrent of uncertainty and nervousness. There is talk of a new reparation offer on the part of Germany, though the offer of June 7 has never been replied to, and still stands. Whether the German Government is in a position to repeat it after three more months wasted in the Ruhr is openly doubted. The offer proposes as one of the guarantees the issue of obligations on the German railways up to ten milliard gold marks (£500,000,000), carrying interest at 5% as from July 1, 1927, thus securing an annual payment of five hundred million gold marks (£25,000,000). I have reason to believe that this offer would not hold good unless the German Government were given the complete control of the railways of the Ruhr, on the ground that the financial calculation in the June offer assumed this condition as its basis.

STATUS OF TANGIER.

THE MEETING OF EXPERTS.

Tangier, like Fiume, is suffering from the inability of Europe to determine its status, remarks The Times editorially. The Powers principally concerned in this case are France, Spain and Great Britain, and yesterday the preliminary meetings of experts of the three countries were resumed at the Foreign Office. When the question was first raised after the war, the divergence of attitude between France and Great Britain was so great that it was felt to be inadvisable to hold any Conference on the matter. By last year, however, there was some approximation of views. If the report of yesterday's proceedings at the meeting of experts prove to be correct, there is reason to hope that the attitude of France has considerably modified since the period immediately after the war. If she favour the real internationalisation of the port and railway services, the police, the courts of justice and the municipal administration, it should be no difficult matter to reach a preliminary understanding.

The attitude of Spain has not yet been clearly defined, but she is believed to stand for neutrality in time of war, and the unrestricted use of the port by all nations. These objects can best be obtained, in our opinion, by a system of true internationalisation.

MEMORIES OF CORONEL.

WAR LETTERS FOUND.

Memories of Coronel are awakened by the official announcement that the German post-bags which were left on the island of Ponape, Caroline Islands, by the German cruiser squadron in August, 1914, have now been found, states The Times Berlin Correspondent.

The bags are to be handed over to the German Government, who will distribute their contents to the addressees. The letters are to be stamped "Post of the Cruiser Squadron, 1914."

GERMAN DICTATORS.

The Daily Chronicle, discussing the abandonment of passive resistance by the German Government, says:—It now seems clear that the two dictators—Dr. Gessler at Berlin, and Dr. von Kahr at Munich—are not adversaries or even rivals, but will pull harmoniously together, and that the latter was appointed not to abet, but to checkmate, the Bavarian Right revolutionaries, whose designs he has, for the time being, frustrated. The Allies have two alternatives before them. One is to take advantage of German cohesion while it exists. The other is to destroy its last possibilities by the shock of further blows.

MARRIED UNDER PROTEST.

A protesting bridegroom was the central figure of a marriage at Chelsea Register Office, King's road, S.W. The bride, a handsome woman of 28, had made the arrangements, says the Daily Mail, and the bridegroom was described as a civil servant, two years younger. When the Registrar asked him to repeat the words of the ceremony after him, the bridegroom, turning to his bride, said: "Do you still want this farcical marriage to take place?" Quietly the bride replied: "Yes." Then, thumping on the table, the bridegroom said: "You still insist before these people that I shall go through with this abominable farce?" Again the bride answered "Yes," and, turning to the official, the bridegroom said: "I am ready, Registrar, marry us." In a cold, crisp voice, as if attending to a business transaction, the bridegroom repeated the words after the official, and the bride did likewise. Then the bridegroom pushed the ring to the tip of the bride's finger, leaving her to adjust it. The bridegroom signed the register, picked up his hat, and, with the words, "Good-bye," walked out of the office. Offering no explanation for the strange scene, the bride signed her name and left the office alone.

JAPAN'S RUINED CITIES.

VIVID PICTURE OF DESOLATION.

FIRST STEPS TOWARDS RECONSTRUCTION.

YOKOHAMA, Via OSALA, Thursday.

What stands now on the site where lately Yokohama flourished, where lately the world's shipping was moored at the quays, exchanging rich cargoes, bringing home wanderers, linking West and East in a common bond of travel?

Imagine Plymouth and Southampton welded into a single city, and garnished richly with the romance of the Orient; then shattered by the single blow of an enraged giant, then blackened by fire, leaving only a few shells of buildings, a few chimney stacks, a few ruined quays, and, over all, a haze of thin smoke from fires where thousands of human corpses daily burned. Add, for a touch of hideous reality, the acrid, clinging stench of bodies dead for a month in tropic heat.

In restoration generally, Yokohama is far behind Tokio, the latter's scars being much hidden under multitudinous wood barracks, tents, and hastily-erected buildings that are, indeed, houses, though certainly temporary ones.

There are few of these in Yokohama. The destruction is far more complete here than in Tokio, hence the incentive to build even temporary dwellings is less than in the capital. Of accommodation ashore, there is almost none. Near the site of the Grand Hotel the American military hospital is set up, with seven hundred beds and every possible kind of equipment. Not far away, the shell of the Specie Bank marks the spot where the same number died in flames. Nearer the sea are the graves—comparable with those of Flanders—of some of the foreign dead.

The first to announce the resumption of business was Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, whose entire staff escaped. The municipal authorities are discussing plans for restoration, and committees have been formed. The first object will be the restoration of the harbour, which will occupy eighteen months, and cost ten million yen (£500,000). The projected improvement of Tokio Bay will be postponed to enable this work to be pushed forward.

Dredging at Yokohama will be unnecessary, the change in water depths being only one foot. The Customs House Pier has been repaired, and is functioning. The next step is a general survey of the city. Probably the low-lying sections will remain buried.

The last hope of finding lost relatives has been well-nigh abandoned by the living, though sometimes distracted devotion goes to the length of formally burying a discovered bone or limb, in the hope that it may be that of the vanished beloved. Relief work is proceeding in the most orderly way. Foreign Orientals, who are among the greatest sufferers, owe much to American assistance.—(The Times Correspondent.)

BIRTH-RATE AND EMPLOYMENT.

BISHOP'S OUTSPOKEN VIEW.

There was an interesting incident at the meeting of men addressed by the Rev. Studdert-Kennedy ("Woodbine Willie") at Plymouth last night in connection with the Church Congress.

Mr. Kennedy contended that Britain would not be able to deal with her large population by emigration, and that much sterner and more moral control of birth was necessary, both in and out of marriage.

A clergyman got up and protested that no artificial means of birth restriction were either necessary or desirable.

The Bishop of Exeter, who presided, said that he was afraid he was too old to be in sympathy with his young friend, Mr. Studdert-Kennedy. "I hold, quite distinctly," he added, "that Malthus is wrong; that population makes for prosperity, and that poverty comes from not having the right sort of men. It is quite obviously true that as long as there is food and raw material in the world, the more men there are the more work there is. Malthus is wrong. A small population does not mean wealth, prosperity, or happiness. Suppose your fathers and mothers heard these views expressed? Are you so ungrateful for the life you have that you would deprive someone else of it? Life is very sweet and happy, and I would not like you to go the way of robbing a lot of unknown babies of the happiness they might have."

MAILS FOR PERSIA.

The Postmaster-General announces that correspondence for Persia is now accepted for transmission via Russia. Correspondence intended for transmission by that route must be specially marked by the senders, and registered articles are accepted at the senders' risk.

The mails will be despatched from London daily. Correspondence for Northern Persia via Russia should occupy about two to three weeks in transit, as compared with five to seven weeks by the sea route via Bombay.

Arrangements have now been concluded with the Turkish Post Office for a resumption of the parcel service by direct sea route to Constantinople. There will be no insured service by this route.

THE END.

A long-standing feud between the Devon County Council and the people of Boasley Cross, a Dartmoor village, as to whether the large wooden building erected four years ago was the cause of numerous outbreaks of diphtheria, was terminated yesterday by an outbreak of fire, which completely destroyed the building.

PAPYRUS'S RACE.

The New York Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, telegraphing on Friday, says:—A special Reception Committee appointed by the Jockey Club, consisting of eminent American citizens and good sportsmen, will proceed to the Cunard Pier to-night to welcome Papyrus.

To make a popular holiday in honour of the greatest race in American sporting annals, the Westchester Racing Association here has arranged to transfer the whole card of the Yonkers Meeting, in this State a very popular autumn fixture, to Belmont Park on October 20th, and is also establishing several new features to make the day historical. It is estimated that 100,000 will see the race. Prices, including war tax, range from 6s. for standing room in the open to £5 for a seat in the grand stand, which will hold 20,000.

THE ATLANTIC FLEET.

The Morning Post says:—The Atlantic Fleet is under orders to re-assemble at Spithead towards the end of October for inspection early in November by the Dominion Prime Ministers and other Imperial delegates attending the Imperial Conference.
